TRAINS FIRE ON MARSHALL

Roosevelt Calls Governor Representative of Taggart Machine.

NO BETTER THAN TAMMANY, HE SAYS

Colonel Smashing Right and Left as Southern Trip Nears Its End.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 30.—Gov. Marshall, of Indiana, was characterized as a "representative of the Taggart machine" here today by Col. Roosevelt, who criticised Gov. Wilson for "assuming a lofty position of morality" in connection with the democratic gubernatorial nomination in New York when he had not objected to the nomination of Gov. Marshall as his running mate. Col. Roosevelt also assailed Gov. Hooper and Senator Sanders, of Tennessee. Col. Roosevelt reached Chattanooga last night from Atlanta and spent several hours here before going to Knoxville. He spoke to a crowd which filled the auditorium and then addressed an overflow meeting on the street.

Col. Roosevelt began the last part of his trip today. He will be in North Carolina tomorrow and is due in New York at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday afternoon.

No Better Than Tammany.

"I noticed that Mr. Wilson said that he wanted Tammany in New York," said Col. Roosevelt, "to put up a good man who would be independent of Tammany when he was put up. I want to ask why, if Mr. Wilson thinks it necessary to interfere about the governorship of New York, he did not also interfere about the vice-president. His man on the ticket, his colleague, is a Tom Taggart man, of the Taggart machine of Indiana. It is not one whit better than Tammany machine in New York.

"It's an absurdity to assume a lofty position of morality in the New York fight and at the same time to have as his running mate a representative of the Taggart machine," continued the colonel.

"Our party stands for efficient honesty. We are for honesty not only in politics but in the industrial world."

As to Republican Party.

The republican party was termed by the speaker, "the shell of what once was the republican party."

"It has everything that the old republican party had," he continued, "except the principles and the people."

The bosses, Col. Roosevelt said, had deliberately shut out the people from the party.

GREAT PROGRESS IN ROAD-MAKING

More in Past Two Decades Than in 2,000 Years, Says Mr. Page.

CONGRESS UNDER WAY

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 30.—President Logan Walter Page opened the American Road congress here today with the declaration that more had been accomplished in road improvement during the past two decades than has been done for 2,000 years previous. Three hundred delegates applauded.

Speaking on "The Making of the Automobile Law," Charles Thaddeus Terry, chairman of the American Automobile association's legislative board, claimed that "it was the right of the motorist to be delivered from bearing all the expense of road building and maintenance."

He declared that the double tax levied on autoists in all but two states to be unjust. Registration, he believed, should be for the purpose of identification only, except for a small tax, equal to that of other vehicles, applicable to all.

N. P. Hull, of the National Grange legislative committee, contended that good roads would solve the problem of keeping the young men on the farm by breaking his isolation, and would reduce the cost of products to the consumer by putting the cities within easy access of the farmer.

MILLER DOES NOT EXPECT A DELAY

Government is Ready for Dynamite Cases at Indianapolis.

SCENE IS A BUSY ONE

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—"Nothing less than the sudden illness of half the defendants can cause delay," said United States District Attorney Charles W. Miller today, as indicating the government's readiness to begin tomorrow the trial of the fifty-one present and former labor union officials on a charge of conspiracy in the carrying of dynamite and nitroglycerine on passenger trains.

Two sets each of fifty veniremen have been drawn from throughout Indiana for the selection of a jury. The defense is to be allowed a total of ten and the prosecution a total of six peremptory challenges.

BEGIN WORK OF CHOOSING JURY

Trial of Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso is Under Way at Salem.

PANEL OF 350 CALLED

Salem, Mass., Sept. 30.—Three hundred and fifty possible jurors were at the Essex county court house today when the trial of Joseph J. Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti, Industrial Workers of the World leaders, and Joseph Caruso, a mill worker, was called. The three men are charged with being concerned in the alleged murder of Anna Lopizzo during the textile strike in Lawrence last January, Caruso as a principal and Ettor and Giovannitti as accessories before the fact. The panel of talesmen was the largest ever summoned for a capital case in Essex county and the court room was not big enough to hold them all.

The first step today was expected to be the filing of a motion with Judge Joseph P. Quinn for the discharge of the entire venire on the ground that in many instances names were illegally drawn. Arguments on this question were expected to consume considerable time according to a statement made last night by Fred W. Hazelwood, of Portland, Ore., one of the counsel for the defense. Ettor, Giovannitti and Caruso were brought to the court house handcuffed together and in charge of deputy sheriffs.

Inside the counsel rail, in addition to Attorney Hazelwood, were Fred H. Moore, of Los Angeles; W. Scott Peters, of Haverhill; John P. S. Mahoney, of Lawrence, and George E. Roewer, jr., of Boston, representing Ettor and Giovannitti; James H. Sisck, of Lynn, attorney for Caruso, and District Attorney Harry C. Attwill, who is conducting the government's case. It was expected that the impanelling of the jury would not be completed for two or three days.

When the court took a recess at noon only one of the twenty-seven talesmen examined had been shown into the jury box. He is Christian W. Larsen, a hairdresser of Haverhill. The state exercised six peremptory challenges and seventeen talesmen were excused for cause.

Telegrams of sympathy and encouragement were received by Ettor from various parts of the country.

MANY CLASHES MARK STRIKE

Violence Attends "Protest" Walk-Out in Four Massachusetts Towns.

PARADES MIXED WITH RIOTING

Nearly a Score Hurt and Many Arrests Made at Lawrence.

Boston, Sept. 30.—Violence marked the beginning of the 24-hour strike demonstration which the Industrial Workers of the World called in four Massachusetts manufacturing towns today as a protest against the imprisonment of two of their leaders. Demonstrations ranging from parades to serious riots occurred in Lawrence, Lynn, Haverhill and Quincy, where it is estimated that 15,000 workers were out.

The most serious disturbances occurred at Lawrence, where pickets and police clashed. Nearly a score of persons were hurt and a dozen arrests were made. The outbreak coincided with the opening in Salem today of the trial of Joseph Ettor and Arturo Giovannitti, two of the leaders of the Industrial Workers, and of Joseph Caruso, a mill operative, in connection with the killing of Anna Lopizzo, during one of the riots in last winter's strike in Lawrence. The cotton, woolen, shoe and granite industries chiefly were affected today. Next to Lawrence the largest number of workers were out in Quincy, where 2,500 granite workers struck. Strikers marching through the quarry district called to the workmen to come out.

At two of the sheds the polishers were dragged out forcibly. Five hundred strikers marched through the shoe manufacturing district of Lynn, trying generally with small success to get the operatives to leave their benches. The police arrested one man waving black and red flag in the crowd. A mob then tried unsuccessfully to rescue him.

At Haverhill about 250 shoe operatives struck.

STORMY AT LAWRENCE.

Police and Pickets Mix in Many Sharp Clashes.

Lawrence, Mass., Sept. 30.—Rioting marked the beginning of the 24-hour general strike of the Industrial Workers of the World as a protest against the imprisonment of Jos. J. Ettor and Arturo Giovanitti, leaders of the organization, whose trial on a charge of murder began at Salem today. Fifteen persons were injured and a dozen arrests were made.

Of the 30,000 textile operatives employed in the mills of this city 12,000 were estimated to be idle by 11 a. m. Seven thousand of these were members

"GEE! I'LL BE GLAD WHEN I CAN WALK"

Little Herbert Burlage May Use Limbs After Operation.

AT LOCAL HOSPITAL

Bound in plaster casts which extend from his feet to his arms, and with only his head and shoulders showing from the bandages, little Herbert Burlage, aged 10 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Burlage, of 507 East Washington street, is lying at his home unable to move either limb or his body.

The little boy has never walked, and all his life he never stood on his feet for a single moment. Last Saturday afternoon he underwent a surgical operation at St. Joseph's hospital, which, if successful, will correct his deformity and will make it possible for him to walk, run and romp with the other children.

One week ago his mother took the cripple to Chicago, and consulted the famous specialists of St. Luke's hospital. After an examination, Dr. John L. Porter declared that by loosening the tendons in the boy's limbs, the deformity could be corrected. The boy was brought home and Saturday afternoon the famous specialist placed him on the operating table. Dr. Porter was assisted by Drs. J. W. McCausland and A. H. Macbeth, of this city.

While many operations have been performed here for the loosening of contracted tendons, none before was ever extensive. Six incisions were made in the boy's limbs between the hips and knees. The lad was removed to his home Sunday afternoon, and everything points to a speedy recovery.

One thing that will assist in the recovery, according to the physicians, is the boy's patience. The little lad wants to walk, and is happy even in his suffering because he feels that as soon as the new tendons are formed he can use his limbs.

"I went away in a taxicab and came home in an ambulance," said the boy this morning. "Gee, I'll be glad when I can walk."

NEW COMPANY INCORPORATES.

People's Protective Association to Operate Hospital.

Articles of incorporation were filed this morning with County Recorder Kelly, for the People's Protective association, of Fort Wayne, to operate and maintain a hospital. Capital stock is listed at $10,000 and the incorporators and directors are Dr. E. D. Wells, R. T. Wells and Glen A. Smiley.

LEAVES FOR LOUISVILLE.

New York, Sept. 30.—Col. Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier Journal, has so far recovered from the illness that had confined him to a New York hotel for several days past that he prepared to leave New York for Louisville this afternoon. Mrs. Watterson and their son, Harvey, accompany him.

GIBSON HOPES FOR THE BEST

Accused Lawyer Has Subpoenaed Many of State's Witnesses.

WIFE IS AT HIS SIDE

Goshen, N. Y., Sept. 30.—"I hope for the best," said Burton W. Gibson, the New York lawyer, before being arraigned in court here today charged with murder of his erstwhile client, Mrs. Rosa Menschik Szabo. Mrs. Szabo met death while boating with Gibson in Greenwood lake this county, and the county authorities maintain that she was strangled, not drowned.

Mrs. Gibson held a conference with her husband before court opened and will sit near him throughout the proceedings. It developed shortly before the time set for the hearing that Gibson had subpenaed many of the state's witnesses. This District Attorney Rogers explained will give the defendant the advantage of learning the state's case at the examination. "He need not call these witnesses at his trial, assuming that his case reaches a trial," Mr. Rogers said, "but will know exactly what the witnesses will say then and can frame his defense accordingly. I shall make no move to prevent this. I believe our case is a strong one and that it will be well for Gibson to realize just what he will have to face."

Gibson entered the court room shortly before noon. Counsel for the state and defense both asked for a recess, on account of the lateness of the hour, until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon. This was granted without a witness being called.

BLOODHOUNDS ON TRAIL AT QUINCY

Sensational Turn Promised in Quadruple Murder by Nightfall.

ROBBERY NOT MOTIVE

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 30.—Developments of a sensational nature before nightfall were promised today by the police officials investigating the quadruple murder on the Pfandschmidt farm, twelve miles southeast of Quincy. If there are no arrests by tonight it is announced that the county board of supervisors will be asked to offer the $1,000 reward allowed by law and Gov. Deneen will be requested to offer the $200 reward allowed by the state for the capture of murderers.

The crime as a result of which Charles Pfandschmidt, a prominent farmer of this county, his wife, Mathilda Abel Pfandschmidt, their daughter, Blanche Pfandschmidt, aged 16, and Miss Emma Kaempen, aged 20, the school teacher of the district who roomed at the Pfandschmidt house, were murdered, is the worst in the criminal history of Adams county.

Bloodhounds were brought to Quincy from Springfield today and were placed on the trail. The tracks of a man in the yard had been covered with boards and the imprint of the shoes of a horse were hidden by boards and boxes. Despite the fact that thousands of persons visited the scene of the crime yesterday the officers believe that the scent is fresh enough for the dogs to take up. That Pfandschmidt was the object of the murderer's assault and that the other three occupants of the house were killed to hide the crime, is the theory of the officers. Pfandschmidt was not accustomed to have money in his house and there is little belief that the motive of the crime was robbery.

URGED BLISS TO TAKE JOB

To Secure Confidence of Men from Whom Cash Was Expected.

LETTERS FROM T. R. AND TAFT TURN UP

But Colonel Denies That Funds Were Accepted from "Interests."

Washington, Sept. 30.—The senate committee investigating campaign contributions renewed its work today hearing first Cornelius N. Bliss, jr., of New York.

Mr. Bliss, a son of the late Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer of the republican funds in 1904, could not tell the committee anything of the alleged $100,000 contribution by the Standard Oil company to Col. Roosevelt's fund of 1904 although he did put into the record a letter from President Roosevelt to the elder Bliss in which the Col. denied in emphatic terms that funds had been accepted from any persons or interests who might ask favors at the hands of the administration.

C. C. Tegthoff, former private secretary of the late E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, was to have been the first witness when the committee met for the afternoon session. He failed to appear on time and the hour for resuming was postponed. The committee expects to learn if the chairman of the Harriman estate has any documentary evidence of the raising of a $240,000 fund.

SOME LETTERS GO IN.

Young Bliss Submits Them at Senate Committee Hearing.

Washington, Sept. 30.—The senate sub-committee's renewal of the investigation of presidential contributions today marked the beginning of hearings that are expected to bring many of the leading financiers, politicians and candidates to the witness stand during the next two months. Witnesses called for the opening session of the hearings today were ready when Chairman Clapp called the sub-committee together.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt and J. Pierpont Morgan are scheduled to step into the spotlight on Friday. Ormsby McHarg, contest manager for Col. Roosevelt at the Chicago convention, who organized the south for the colonel, was on hand when the committee convened today. His story of the pre-convention campaign, and of the contests he managed for President Taft in the 1908 campaign, were expected to be the chief testimony. G. C. Tegthoff, secretary to the late E. H. Harriman, and Charles A. Peabody, Mrs. Harriman's personal counsel, were to produce any papers they might have in connection with the alleged raising of $250,000 in Wall street by Harriman for the Roosevelt fund in 1904.

Bliss First Witness.

Cornelius N. Bliss, jr., son of the treasurer of the republican campaign committee in 1904, was called to produce any papers in the files of his father's estate bearing on the charge that Col. Roosevelt acquiesced in the acceptance of $100,000 from the Standard Oil interests in 1904 and in a further demand for $150,000 from the same source.

Senators Clapp, Oliver, Paynter and Pomerene were present when the committee went into session. Mr. Bliss was the first witness. He said he was an executor of his father's estate and had sole custody of his father's papers.

"Have you found any papers bearing on the campaign funds handled by your father?" asked Chairman Clapp.

Mr. Bliss placed in evidence a report from the auditor who examined his father's accounts when he resigned as

WOMEN TO FIGURE PROMINENTLY IN CONSERVATION CONGRESS AT INDIANAPOLIS

MRS. MATTHEW T. SCOTT, president-general of D. A. R.

J. B. WHITE, of Kansas City, president of the congress.

MRS. PHILIP N. MOORE, retiring president of General Federation of Women's Clubs.

Thanks to Women, Great Gathering at Indiana Capital Will Emphasize Conservation of Human Beings.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 30.—The women of America will have their inning at the national conservation congress, which opens its fourth session here tomorrow, continuing for four days. And because of their presence there will be more human conservation projects discussed than at any previous congress where the influence of men predominated. President J. B. White, president of the congress, insisted that special preparations be made to make the meeting one of interest to women.

While most of the men speakers will talk about the conservation of our natural resources, forests, waterways, etc., the women folks will be more interested in the conservation of human beings.

Miss Julia C. Lathrop, chief of the United States children's bureau, will be one of the leading feminine speakers. Others will be Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, head of the D. A. R.; Mrs. Philip N. Moore, of St. Louis, president of the General Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. John R. Walker, of Kansas City, who is one of the foremost women orators in the United tSates, and other noted women.

Gov. Woodrow Wilson will be the only presidential candidate to attend. He will deliver an address at a mass meeting in the fair grounds Oct. 3. Dr. Harvey W. Wiley will make some startling statements tomorrow night about the inside of the pure food fight.

Gifford Pinchot will tell where conservation stands today. Prof. Liberty Hyde Bailey, the national authority on agriculture; Dr. W. A. Evans, former head of the American Medical association; Gen. Leonard Wood, head of the army; E. T. Fairchild, head of the National Educational association, and Prof. Irving Fisher, of Yale, will deliver addresses.

SNOW AT SOUTH BEND; SCHOOLS FROZEN OUT.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 30—The first snow of the season in northern Indiana fell here early today. The flakes were large and fell steadily for fifteen minutes. A marked drop in temperature followed.

Two thousand school children are unable to attend classes because of inadequate heating devices and the shortage of hard coal today.

The "Fall Season" for Capt. Huber

"IT WAS my evening off," explained Capt. John F. Huber, of Fire Co. No. 8, "and I was coming leisurely along in the neighborhood of Lafayette and Buchanan streets when I thought I heard the clang-clang of fire-fighting apparatus. And sure enough, the clatter and rumble and clang grew louder and louder and I saw the horses and men and the apparatus go whizzing by on Creighton avenue, going east. Not only that, but I recognized, right away, the men and apparatus from our No. 8 fire house. I couldn't have resisted the inclination to join them if I had wanted to, and I didn't want to. My place was right with them, but as I was afoot and the department kept going on and on, it didn't look very promising until I happened to see a motorcycle out in front of the Sallot bicycle store on Lafayette street. This gave me a bright idea. J. A. Sallot was there and I told him I was dead anxious to get to the fire and wondered if he couldn't take me there on the motorcycle.

"'Sure, get on the back seat,' he said, and in a few seconds we were shooting down street. My two hundred and fifty pounds didn't seem to make any difference in the ability of the machine to get over the ground. We hit the trail of the department and discovered that the alarm had come from some place beyond the paved streets, because we slowed down and pretty soon were jogging over the dirt road. Well, sir, there's where the trouble came in. Just as we were within a square of the house where the fire was supposed to be, my seat twisted loose and before I knew it I sat down hard in the street while Sallot and the machine went on. When the dust cleared away, I found I wasn't hurt, but I'm not going to do that again. Nevertheless, I am grateful to Mr. Sallot."

"I sat down hard."

WAIVES HEARING; IS BOUND OVER

Fred Meyers Held to Circuit Court on Robbery Charge.

CITY COURT CASES

Fred Meyers, who is accused of having robbed the Martin plumbing shops in July, waived preliminary hearing in the city court this morning and was held to the circuit court under bond of $1,000.

Meyers was arrested by Detective Sergeant Pappert Saturday night when he was found at the home of a friend on John street. Meyers is charged with having broken into the Martin shops on East Columbia street, stealing $7 in cash and two checks, one for $14 and another for $11. He managed to cash one of the checks here, and in this way suspicion turned to him. Meyers left the city after the robbery and has been in Detroit.

Youth is Demented.

The case against Calvin Waldorf was continued until Wednesday morning. Waldorf is feeble minded and told Judge Mungovan that he made two mistakes when the latter continued his case and fixed the bond at $100. The youth raised a disturbance on West Superior street Saturday morning and is charged with loitering. For many hours after his arrest he would not say a word, but suddenly became talkative Saturday night and has been talking almost incessantly ever since.

The case against Karl Kinsey for wife desertion was continued and will come up tomorrow morning. His bond was fixed at $500.

Charles Bolman and John Corrello, each paid fines of $1 and costs for public intoxication.

August Henkinius, William Horstman, Dick Brennan, August Jordan and Todd Cass, drunks, were let go by Judge Mungovan.

Jeff Meyers went to Cincinnati Saturday night and came back with much of the Cincinnati liquor in his system. He was sent to jail for fifteen days. John Smith, another drunk, was let go with a reprimand.

MINERS CLING TO ARMS.

Refuse to Surrender Weapons to Citizens' Committee.

Charlestown, W. Va., Sept. 30.—Efforts to have miners in the country north of the Kanawha river surrender their arms to the committee of business men which promised Gov. Glasscock to bring this about if he would not extend the martial law zone, were continued today, but it is reported here, with indifferent success. A meeting of foreigners was held yesterday afternoon and it is said their leaders advised them to retain their arms. Mother Jones, the aged labor leader, was among the speakers. There are about 1,400 miners at Boomer.

Military authorities here stated today that if the situation north of the river is cleared up within the next few days they expected orders from Gov. Glasscock to disband at least a part of the force in the field. There are now about 1,200 soldiers on duty in the martial law zone and it is thought that half of them can be ordered home not later than Thursday if the governor's plans for disarmament are carried out.

LITTLE HEADWAY IS MADE.

Murder Case at Evansville Yet Baffles Police.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 30.—Apart from the detention of two women and a man the police today had made little headway in the murder of an unknown woman who went by the name of Jessie, who was found strangled in a disorderly resort here yesterday.

Edward Boerner, a young factory worker who visited the young woman a few hours before she was found dead, is being held for investigation. He denies knowledge of how she met her death. The women witnesses were in the house with the murderer's victim. The only thing known about the dead woman is that she came here from Lima, O.

PIONEER WOMAN OF COUNTY DIES

Mrs. Louise Rose Came to Fort Wayne on Foot Early in 1836.

THE OTHER DEATHS

Mrs. Louise Rose, one of Fort Wayne's oldest and best known pioneers, died Saturday afternoon at her home, 1121 Summit street, at the age of 85 years. Death was due to old age and followed an illness of several weeks. Mrs. Rose had lived continuously in Allen and Adams counties for seventy-six years.

MRS. LOUISE ROSE.

Mrs. Rose was born September 25, 1827, in Preus-Minden, Germany. She sailed for America with her parents in 1836. Upon landing at New York, Christian Muessing, father of Mrs. Rose, was the leader of five other German families who set out immediately for Indiana. The other families in the party were Busch, Gotsch, Conrad and Schmidt families. The trip to Indiana was made from Toledo on foot. The party camped out at night along the banks of the Maumee river, and Indians and animals were so numerous that it was necessary to place sentinels about the camp.

The party reached Wine's mill on the bank of the Maumee and remained there for some time. Then Mrs. Rose's father took up a large claim of government land in Adams county and located there permanently.

Mrs. Rose was married in 1847 to Anthony Rose, who died thirty-six years ago. At the death of her husband she moved to Fort Wayne. There were eight children in the family, and the following survive: Mrs. Edmund Schroeder, William, Henry, Anthony, Charles and Christian B. Rose, all of this city. The latter is a member of the firm of Rose-Strasburg Clothing company.

The deceased was one of the most active and aged members of the congregation of the Concordia Lutheran church. She was widely known. In spite of her advanced age, she had enjoyed remarkable health until a few weeks ago, and always insisted on living by herself at the residence where she died. Her children were unable to persuade her to give up her home and spend the remainder of her life with them.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the residence and at 2:30 o'clock from the Concordia Lutheran church.

Mrs. Rose is also survived by twenty-three grandchildren and thirteen great grandchildren. The grandchildren are: Christian, Edward, Theodore, Adolph, Julius and Clara Schroeder; John, Henry, Herman, Edward, Ervin, Carl, Dorothy, Martin, Arthur, Paul, Linda, Wilmer, Alfred and Adolph Rose; Mrs. William Trautman, Mrs. Herman Rodenbeck and Mrs. William Huege.

Charles Muessing, who resides near Fort Wayne on the Lima road, and Benjamin Muessing, of Kendallville, are the only surviving brothers.

DRISCOLL.

William Driscoll, formerly a resident of this city, died Saturday at Benton Harbor, Mich. Death was due to typhoid fever. Mr. Driscoll was forty years of age.

The deceased left Fort Wayne twenty years ago, but frequently visited here, and spent some time in the city last summer. Surviving besides the mother, Mrs. E. Driscoll, are two sisters—Margaret Driscoll, at home, and Mrs. Hugh Clelland, of Pittsburg, and two brothers, Edward, of this city, and Frank, of Pittsburg.

The remains were brought to Fort Wayne Sunday. Funeral services Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock from the residence of his mother, 130 Douglas avenue, and at 9 o'clock from the Cathedral.

LIEBERENZ.

John C. Lieberenz, aged eighty-four years, died Saturday afternoon at the home of a grandson, Albert Lieberenz, on Edwards street. Death was due to complications.

The deceased was a native of Germany. He had lived in this country for fifty-seven years. For a number of years he lived at Kendallville. Surviving he leaves two sons, Frederick, of this city, and Albert, of Elkhart. Eighteen grandchildren and eleven great grandchildren also survive. The deceased was a member of the German M. E. church at Kendallville.

The remains will be removed to Kendallville Tuesday morning and funeral services will be held there.

Flag services will be conducted over the remains at the Wellman morgue at 7:30 o'clock this evening by the ladies of the G. A. R.

STAPLETON.

Joshua Stapleton, aged eighty-seven years, a pioneer farmer of Allen county, died Saturday night at his home in St. Joseph's township. Death was due to pneumonia and followed a three week's illness.

Mr. Stapleton was born in Maryland, February 17, 1825, and at the age of nine years came to Ohio with his parents, who settled in Erie county. In 1865 Mr. Stapleton came to Allen county, Indiana, and first resided in Milan township. In 1854 Mr. Stapleton was married to Miss Anne Utter. The wife and two children preceded him in death. Surviving are the following children: Frank, Robert and Mrs. Anna Kryder, of Fort Wayne; Edgar, of Cedarville; Joshua, jr., of Texas, and Fred, William and Alma, who live at home.

Funeral services Tuesday afternoon at 1 o'clock from the Methodist Episcopal church at Cedarville. Interment at the Leo cemetery.

SCHALOMSKI.

John Schalomski, the four months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Schalomski, of 1506 Hayden street, died Sunday morning from exhaustion. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence, and at 2 o'clock from St. Hyacinth's Polish Catholic church.

FUNK.

Mrs. May Funk, aged 46, wife of Dr. James Funk, died at her home this morning at 6:15 o'clock of cancer of the stomach.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the residence, 1112 St. Joe boulevard. The body will be shipped to Lima, O., for burial Wednesday morning at 9:20 o'clock.

treasurer of the republican committee. He said the records did not show any contribution by John D. Archbold or the Standard Oil company. Members of the committee examined the records.

No names of contributors to the 1904 campaign fund appeared in the records. Mr. Bliss was asked to read his father's letter of resignation to Harry S. New, which also had been placed in evidence.

The letter set forth that the late Mr. Bliss had held as confidential the names of contributors and the amount of their contributions in the "last four presidential campaigns in which I have acted as treasurer.

Held Them Confidential.

"I have persistently refused to make these reports public," the letter read, "because I regard the relations of campaign contributions to party committees as confidential. I believe the right to refuse to make public these contributions is as sacred as the right of a man to cast a secret ballot in the election."

The letter added that the republican committee's receipts in 1900 had been "a trifle below $3,000,000; in 1896, $3,500,000, and in 1892, $1,000,000.

The witness said he had discovered three other letters of a "personal and more or less intimate nature." These were handed to Chairman Clapp. One was from President Roosevelt; another from Wm. H. Taft, as secretary of war.

The committee suspended its inquiry for a few minutes while the members read the letters privately. Senator Clapp had the letters placed in the record as exhibits; they were not read aloud and their contents was not divulged at the time. Mr. Bliss said he had no other documents and no recollection of any conversations with his father which would throw any light on the subjects under investigation.

Later, however, the contents of two of the letters became known. That from Secretary Taft, written May 6, 1904, urged the late Mr. Bliss to take the chairmanship, saying President Roosevelt was "most anxious" for it, and adding that as chairman Mr. Bliss would "secure the confidence of those from whom contributions may be expected." The letter from President Roosevelt, dated the same, also urged him to take the place.

Under examination by Senator Paynter the witness said that his father had told him he allowed the books of the treasurer's office of the republican national committee to be destroyed, because he, the elder Bliss, believed the records useless. They contained, he said, the names and amounts from various contributors. The witness did not know who destroyed them.

The witness could not remember having talked with his father about the much discussed $100,000 Standard Oil company contribution. Mr. Bliss said that he, since his father's death, had destroyed a great many of the papers left by the elder Bliss.

"I know of nothing that I destroyed that could in any way assist this committee," he declared.

Fails to Shake Statement.

A vigorous cross examination by Senator Pomerene failed to shake his statement. Mr. Bliss then was excused and Wm. H. Libby, of New York, foreign representative of the Standard Oil company was sworn.

Chairman Clapp asked Mr. Libby if he had anything to do with advising the company about legislative affairs.

"Only as to tariff matters when it was threatened to exempt the Standard Oil company from the protective tariff," replied Mr. Libby.

"The campaign of 1908 foreshadowed a tariff revision," suggested Senator Clapp. "What interest did your company take in that campaign?"

"Nothing that I know of in the way of contributions," said Mr. Libby. "I was informed by Mr. H. H. Rogers that in 1904 the Standard Oil company made a very large contribution to the republican national campaign fund." He added he knew nothing personally about it. He had not been told the amount he said, when, by whom or to whom it was made. He knew of no contribution other than he heard mentioned by Mr. Rogers.

"Did you see any members of congress on the tariff matter?" asked Senator Pomerene. Mr. Libby could not remember what public officials he had talked with, but thought probably he had discussed it with President Taft and officials of the state department. He said he would produce any letters written in that connection if he could find them.

"Did any of these letters concern contributions?" asked Senator Pomerene.

"No."

This concluded Mr. Libby's testimony and he was excused. After a brief executive session the committee took a recess until 2 p. m. Senator Clapp said that either C. C. Tegethoff, former secretary to the late E. H. Harriman, or Charles A. Peabody, personal counsel for Mrs. Harriman, would be called when the hearing was resumed.

Later it was announced that Mr. McHarg's testimony had been postponed until Tuesday, Oct. 8. Chairman Clapp said "the committee was not ready for him."

It was announced that J. G. Cannon, president of the Fourth National bank of New York, would be summoned. It was said he made the audit of the accounts of the elder Cornelius N. Bliss, presented to the committee today.

While the committee at first seemed confused as to the disposition of the three letters to Mr. Bliss, put in evidence, the substantial portions of them were finally made public. Two were of no particular importance, but the third, dated March 26, 1906, written by President Roosevelt from the white house to Mr. Bliss in New York, made specific denial that he had ever been influenced for or against any persons or interests as a result of contributions to the 1904 campaign.

The Roosevelt Letter.

"It is not only true that there has come to me no suggestion that the giving of contributions entitles any giver to any consideration beyond his fellows," wrote President Roosevelt in the letter, "but it is furthermore true that on a number of occasions, as for instance in connection with the tobacco interests and in connection with a wealthy man who wished to be considered for the position of minister to Belgium, contributions were immediately declined when it was found that either the donor hoped for some favor or even that the government was about to take some action which affected the donor or donors; while as soon as it was known that certain big financiers as well as influential politicians like Mr. Odell had urged the appointment of James H. Hyde as ambassador to France, Mr. Cortelyou and I believe you also protested strongly, and the financiers in question at once accepted my explanation of why it would be impossible to put so young and untried a man in any such position and abandoned all efforts to press him."

Only Half as Big.

President Roosevelt wrote that he believed the 1904 campaign fund had been only half as big as the republican fund in 1896 or the democratic fund in 1892.

"This, however, is aside from the point," he continued, "which is that the money was spent legitimately, in legitimate campaign expenses and that no pretense has been made to the contrary; and that it was contributed freely by men who did not ask and who never have received one particle of consideration in the shape of legislation or administrative act as a reward for having so contributed; exactly as no man has been in any way discriminated against for not having contributed.

"Indeed, considering the action taken by the administration in the various suits against the beef trust, the tobacco trust, against the railroad companies in the matter of rebates, etc., and in view of the course we have pursued throughout in all corporation matters, it ought to be wholly unnecessary so much as to allude to any allegations that any contribution from any source has been allowed to influence in the slightest degree any administrative act of mine or any legislation I have recommended since I have been president."

The letter commended Mr. Bliss and added that he hoped Mr. Bliss "had not been bothered by those outrageous assaults upon you in connection with the campaign contributions."

"I have felt the keenest indignation as I have read them," the president added.

WITHDRAWS HIS PERMISSION.

Colquitt Doesn't Want Mexican Troops on Texas Soil.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 30.—Gov. Colquitt has withdrawn permission for Mexican federal troops to march from Marathon, Tex., to another point on the border over Texas soil. He announced today he does not care to take the risk.

The governor sent this message to the secretary of state at Washington:

"Concerning the moving of Mexican troops through Texas from Eagle Pass to Del Rio and Marathon, my adjutant general calls attention to the fact that it will be a seventy-mile march over rough territory from Marathon. I desire to withdraw my consent for the passage of these troops through Texas until I am advised more fully with reference to their movement. This march of seventy miles to the territory referred to will invite difficulties which I do not want to occur in Texas."

SPEND NIGHT IN TENTS.

Residents of Valparaiso in Panic Fearing Earthquake.

Valparaiso, Chile, Sept. 30.—Panic in consequence of the prediction of earthquakes caused most of the inhabitants of Valparaiso to pass last night in tents pitched on the open spaces and in the parks, where bands played to cheer them, while troops patrolled the streets. At midnight a slight shock occurred. A strong northerly wind that started at 2 o'clock this morning created a heavy sea, which increased the fear of the people who were drenched by incessant rains.

SLAYS WIFE; THEN HIMSELF.

Lifeless Bodies Found in Singleton Home Near Eubanks, Ky.

Danville, Ky., Sept. 30.—The bodies of Matthew Singleton and his wife were found in their home near Eubanks today. A letter found in Singleton's pocket indicated he had shot his wife then turned the gun on himself. Singleton was a prosperous farmer.

Miss Jeannette Kabisch, for many years in the cloak department at the Rurode store, has taken a position with Wolf & Dessauer.

Miss Grace Felts, daughter of Herman Felts, who graduated last June at the city high school, has gone to Angola to take a teacher's course of study at the Normal college there. Louis Brandtattor accompanied here and will take a business course at the college.

HOLDS OUT FOR DIX.

Murphy Insists on Renomination of New York Governor.

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The opposition to the renomination of Gov. John A. Dix spent the early hours today, while the delegates were gathering for the democratic state convention, trying to crystallize sentiment around some candidate. An effort was made to persuade Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, that the placing of the governor at the head of the state ticket again would mean the loss of many county tickets, even if the governor was re-elected, and that a stronger man could be chosen.

Mr. Murphy insisted, however, that Governor Dix should be renominated. Mr. Murphy and his friends in the state organization were said by those opposing Governor Dix to control about 400 out of 450 votes in the convention. The project of bringing William J. Bryan here to reinforce the anti-Dix element appears to have been abandoned. It was said that Mr. Bryan has important engagements in Nebraska this week, that make it impossible for him to come. George M. Palmer, chairman of the state committee, has arrived here, bringing with him a tentative draft of the platform. The state chairman said the platform was short and progressive in spirit. He declined to discuss its planks.

of the Industrial Workers of the World. The others idle had either remained away from the mills through fear of personal injury or had left because there was no work in their departments.

Attempts to intimidate the intending workers in the strike failed of effect today. It was estimated that not more than 7,000 operatives remained away from the Lawrence textile mills.

Had Numerous Conflicts.

Serious rioting followed the attempted intimidation. Pickets had numerous conflicts with employes going to the mills. A dozen arrests were made for attacks upon children, women and men, some of those taken being armed with revolvers, knives or other weapons such as hammers, bottles or pieces of iron.

One of the most serious disturbances of the morning was before the Everett mill. A big crowd of pickets gathered and became so threatening that the police charged them, wielding their clubs freely. Several persons were injured. A man who was knocked from a street car, was taken to a hospital where it was said his condition was serious.

The morning's trouble began at the corner of Essex and Mill streets; a fireman was escorting his young daughter to her work in one of the mills when he was attacked by a crowd of pickets. The fireman succeeded in getting the young woman safely within the mill gates after which he returned and pointed out a man, who, he claimed had struck his daughter. The assailant was arrested.

In another affray a boy was struck over the head with a bottle and rendered unconscious.

Cars bearing workers were intercepted by pickets and stalled for a time.

Leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World said that the organization could not be held responsible for the disturbances, which they attributed to "excitable youngsters."

Wait for Haywood.

The leaders were undecided as to future plans, pending the arrival this afternoon of Wm. D. Haywood, general organizer of the Industrial Workers of the World, who is on the way here from Chicago. A mass meeting was arranged for 3 p. m.

Besides a local police force numbering 150, there are on duty here fifty members of the state police.

Three hours after the mills opened it was estimated that there were 12,000 operatives idle, of whom 7,000 were striking members of the Industrial Workers of the World and 5,000 who had either left the mills because of lack of work or remained at home through fear of intimidation.

Minor disturbances in different parts of the city occurred late in the forenoon. In one case the police broke up a crowd, captured a red flag and arrested the flag bearer on the charge of creating a disturbance.

DRAGGED OTHERS OUT.

Strikers at Salem Compel Others to Follow.

Quincy, Mass., Sept. 30.—Thirty granite quarries were closed today because of a strike of all the Italian and Finnish laborers in protest against the imprisonment of Ettor and Giovanitti.

A large body of quarrymen marched through the district and ordered out those at work. Police patrol wagons followed, but no arrests were made.

In two instances the strikers went into the polishing rooms and dragged the workmen outside.

All the Swedish workmen walked out later and the plants were closed for the day.

RED FLAGS AT LYNN.

Crowd Attempts to Rescue Man Taken by Police.

Lynn, Mass., Sept. 30.—A clash between the Lynn police and a body of strikers occurred today when a man waving a red and black flag was arrested and a crowd attempted to rescue him. Several police officers were assaulted and three arrests were made. Three hundred striking shoe operatives, headed by three women, marched through the business section of the city shortly after the factories opened, urging those at work to strike in protest against the imprisonment of Ettor and Giovannitti. When the procession halted in front of the shoe factory of James Phelan & Sons, one of the largest in the city, a hurry call was sent for the police, but before the officers arrived the strikers resumed their march and assembled in Liberty square, where their meeting ended in disorder.

OBJECTS TO WAYMAN.

Miss Brooks Is Witness Before Chicago Grand Jury.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30.—The Cook county grand jury returned to the investigation of vice in Chicago and the county today. Miss Virginia Brooks, for two years the champion of reform in the village of West Hammond, her home town, was one of the witnesses. She told of her experience in fighting disreputable places. Before answering the questions of the foreman of the grand jury Miss Brooks protested against the presence of State's Attorney Wayman and his assistants. She finally proceeded, however, with the state's attorney still in the room.

LEAVE THURSDAY MORNING.

Members of the 120th regiment Indiana volunteers will leave Fort Wayne for their reunion at Huntington Thursday morning at 9 o'clock over the interurban line. Comrades are expected to be on time at the station.

COL. WEBB HAYES WEDS.

Fremont, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Col. Webb C. Hayes, son of the former president, Rutherford B. Hayes, and Mrs. Mary O. Brinkerhoff, widow of the late Judge Samuel Brinkerhoff, were married here today, and left for a wedding tour of the east.

HOW ITS CAPITAL STOCK TOOK JUMP

Indiana Oil Concern is Now Subject of Inquiry at Chicago.

STAHLE ON STAND

Chicago, Sept. 30.—George W. Stahle, secretary and treasurer of the Standard Oil company of Indiana was the first witness examined today when the hearings were begun in Chicago in the fight being made by H. Clay Pierce of St. Louis against the Standard Oil company stockholders over the control of the Waters-Pierce Oil company, of St. Louis.

Stahl was examined before Edward D. Pomeroy, federal examiner by S. W. Fordyce, jr., of St. Louis, of counsel for Mr. Pierce. Stahl told of the increase in the capital stock of the Standard of Indiana from $1,000,000 to $30,000,000 at a meeting of directors at which the total of 8,025 shares voted, 8,008 were proxies. Lawyers for Mr. Pierce said they were attempting to prove by the methods of the Indiana company their contention previously made that the Standard Oil company was an illegal combination.

WILL CONSIDER CHARGES.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Charges by S. W. Fordyce, counsel for the Waters-Pierce Oil company, that the Standard Oil company of New Jersey is violating the spirit and letter of the decree of dissolution, will be considered by Attorney General Wickersham next week.

AWAIT ELEVENTH HOUR.

Roosevelt Electors Cling to Places in Pennsylvania.

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 30.—The republican state committee at a special meeting this afternoon will be informed that the Roosevelt men on the republican electoral ticket in Pennsylvania will refuse to withdraw until Oct. 9, when the time for making changes expires.

This decision was reached at a conference of twenty electors held during the morning, at which the situation was discussed and resolutions adopted declaring it the sense of the electors that Roosevelt was the choice of the republicans of Pennsylvania for president and that the electors will not retire from the republican ticket until they are assured that their own ticket (Washington party) is safe from attack. The Taft electors who are to take the places of the Roosevelt men on the republican ticket have already been selected and will be put on the ticket when the Roosevelt men resign. The Washington party ticket, containing the complete list of Roosevelt electors, was filed at the state department last Saturday.

MAY TAKE OVER 'PHONES.

City of Cleveland to Investigate Feasibility of Move.

Cleveland, O., Sept. 30.—After a conference between Mayor Newton D. Baker and L. B. Haserodt, president pro tem of the city council, today, it was announced that Haserodt will introduce a resolution at tonight's council meeting calling on Mayor Baker and Director of Public Service Springborn to investigate the feasibility and advisability of the city taking over the two local telephone companies. Right to take such action is conferred in the "hoe rule" provision of Ohio's new constitution.

E. C. STUMP FILES BIG DAMAGE SUIT

Man Injured in the Pennsy Wreck at Larwill Wants $25,000.

THE FEDERAL COURT

Eh C. Stump, who was injured in the Pennsylvania wreck at Larwill, Ind., on February 17, while he wa son duty as a member of the wrecking crew, has filed suit in the local federal court for 25,000 damages against the Pennsylvania company.

Stump was injured in such a manner that according to his complaint, he will never completely recover. He alleges that he was unconscious for thirteen days, and that he spent several months in the hospital. John H. Aiken is attorney for the plaintiff.

Creditors' Meeting.

Harry C. Wert, of Garrett, Ind., was appointed trustee in the bankruptcy matter of Maggert & Co., of Altona, Ind. A first creditors' meeting was held this afternoon before Referee Sol A. Wood, and three local creditors appeared.

A voluntary petition in bankruptcy has been filed in the local federal court by Thomas K. Simpson, of this city. His liabilities are scheduled at $3,360, while assets amount to $200. McAdams and Hartzell are his attorneys.

Everybody is busy this morning getting ready for the big fall festival which begins tomorrow morning in this city. All the concessions and attractions will be here by noon today and by morning everything will be in first class shape for the people who visit our city for the next four days. The premiums are unusually good this year and have been an inducement to many to enter this year that have never done so. It is predicted by many that Auburn will entertain the biggest crowds this week that has ever visited this city.

THE NEW ATTACK ON DIABETES

Ammonium Sulphate	1.2 grammes
Copper Sulphate	2.6 grammes
Potassium Hydrate	20. grammes
Glycerine	100. cc.
Ammonia Water (s.g. .90)	250. cc.
Distilled Water to make	500. cc.

To physicians—Heat one dram of above reagent to boiling. Add the Diabetic specimen by minims until reagent is colorless. The number of minims will indicate the percentage of sugar. Change the attack—put the patient on an agent to counteract hepatic degeneration. Test again in twenty days and you will know to a certainty whether the sugar is decreasing or not. Thus no physician or chemist need be in doubt.

The treatment of Diabetes has largely been held to Codein. It quiets the patient but the prognosis is admitted to be hopeless. The new treatment, instead of locking up the secretions, as the opium in Codein does, reverses the action, thus permitting the liver to oxodize more of the sugars and starches. Increasing strength and gradual recovery or prolongation of life naturally follows. That the new agent, Fulton's Diabetic Compound, does this in many cases, particularly between the ages of fifty and seventy, can be established in your own laboratories by the above formula.

Gradually retire the Codein, giving a non-habit forming substitute if necessary, prescribe the new agent and if the patient is of middle age or over and has recuperative power you can look for some results in most cases by the twentieth day. The thirst and hunger often begin to abate before the sugar decreases. Thus in many cases patients know before the tests are made that they are getting results. (It does not seem to have much effect in young cases).

Fulton's Diabetic Compound is a mild infusion without opiates. It does not conflict with physicians' prescriptions. The substance of the formula surrounds each bottle.

D. & N. Pharmacy will fill prescriptions and supply the compound. Ask for pamphlet or write John J. Fulton Co., San Francisco.

PASTOR MADE 298 CALLS IN A DAY

Rev. F. F. Thornburg, Auburn Minister, Carried Out His Schedule Successfully.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 30.—When Rev. F. F. Thornburg, pastor of the Methodist church, had made 298 calls among that many members of his pastorate Friday, he found himself twenty-nine minutes ahead of his schedule made out the day before, and as a result the last two members of his flock were privileged a longer call by their pastor than those who answered their doorbells earlier in the day.

At each home he was given a minute's time for conversation and greeting, and at each a program of the Rally day exercises was left. An average of two minutes' time was given to each call. A radius of three miles west, three miles north and two and a half miles south was covered.

On the previous Sunday he announced his schedule from his pulpit, giving the time he would be at each home and hence his parishioners were prepared to meet him. The calls were made during the forenoon and afternoon.

COLUMBIA CITY NEWS.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 30.—Fred Hummel, of this city, left Monday morning for Philadelphia, where he will visit for several weeks with his cousin. From this point he expects to go to New York city and Boston.

NEW YORK GIVES DEBS AN OVATION

Largest Socialist Demonstration Ever Held in United States.

GREAT CROWD THERE

New York, Sept. 30.—Eugene V. Debs, the socialist nominee for president, and Emil Seidel, nominee for vice-president, were officially notified of their nomination at ceremonies which attracted a crowd too large to be accommodated in the great amphitheater at Madison Square garden yesterday. It was planned as, and it is declared it turned out to be, the largest socialist demonstration ever held in the United States.

Notwithstanding the admission charge of from 10 cents to $1, the garden was overcrowded and an overflow meeting was necessary. The feature of the day's enthusiasm was an ovation to Debs continuing for seventeen minutes.

Mr. Seidel, who also was officially notified of his nomination, declared that the workingman could find his salvation only in the socialist party. Neither of the old parties had anything to offer, he said, and the third party was really "a fifth party which has stolen the planks of the socialist platform."

In the ovation to Debs thousands of persons stood on their chairs waving hats and red flags. After seventeen minutes of the turmoil, Mr. Debs got an opportunity to begin his speech, declaring that there were really only two parties, the socialist and the "capitalistic class party," of which other parties only represented different divisions.

The presidential candidates of the old parties and of the third party all came in for sharp attacks. The socialist nominee referred to "an impending strike of the Shirtwaist and Dressmakers' union in this city within the next two or three months," in which he said 30,000 employes were expected to join and he urged his hearers to give them financial and moral support. He referred to the Lawrence strike and declared that the working class must get a "square deal" in the case of Ettor and Giovannitti, or there will be an uprising."

WILLS $2,000,000 ESTATE.

New York Woman Endows Home Founded by First Husband.

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 30.—The A. M. McGregor Home for the Aged in East Cleveland, Ohio, is bequeathed upward of $700,000 by the will of Mrs. Marshall O. Terry, of Mamaroneck, filed here. The institution is to receive $200,000 outright and $500,000 upon the death of the testator's husband, who is to be paid the income from the latter sum during his life. The McGregor home, which was founded by Mrs. Terry's first husband, the late A. M. McGregor, also is to receive the residue of the estate. The total value of the estate is estimated at $2,000,000.

Where the Remedy Lies.

Rather delayed objection to some recent public sidewalk work on Huffman street upon the ground that it did not in all respects conform to the specifications under which the contract was awarded has developed the fact that the time limit for protest had elapsed before complaint was made, and that in all probability nothing can be done for the reason that the work has been formally accepted by the city. In this particular instance representatives of property-owners contend that there was a failure to install the proper proportion of gravel filler beneath the walk, and that in some cases the concrete was placed directly on top of the old bed from which the worn-out brick walk was removed. There is the contention upon the part of the contracting firm, which has done thousands of dollars worth of public work in Fort Wayne and has enjoyed rank as an entirely reputable and trustworthy concern, that there was no intent to side-step any of the requirements, that weather conditions during the progress of the work have contributed to the apparent discrepancy at actual points where a test has been made, and that in any event the proportion of concrete work installed on the job in excess of requirements is evidence of good faith in the effort to put down substantial work. It is insisted, also, that as a matter of fact the increased thickness of concrete will produce a more durable improvement than that required by the specifications. The point, however, is that any departure from specifications that gives rise to criticism is unwarranted, however it may have occurred. Property owners are justifiably deeply interested in the quality of the work for which they are called upon to pay, but it is unfair to require them to act as inspectors and perform a duty that is clearly the city's. Nor should the board of works attempt to take refuge behind the fact that the time limit for objections had expired before the complaint was made. It is true the law makes provision for objection by the property owner who is dissatisfied, but the citizen has plainly the right to assume that the city authorities will exercise an inspection of public work rigid enough to make it unnecessary for the private citizen to do the work for which public officials and department employes are paid. Therein lies the remedy for most of the conditions of which the tax-payer is occasionally constrained to complain.

Chicago national headquarters of three political parties have given it out that the third week in October has been selected in which to unleash the political dogs of war in Indiana. Such political activity as has been noted in this state up to the present time is but a mere balmy zephyr as compared to the big wind coming late in October when the heavy oratorical artillery of the democrats, progressives and the republicans will begin blazing away at the Hoosier voter, who doesn't need it at all because he has already made up his mind what he's going to do.

Announcement is made that in conformity with his usual custom, Congressman Cline will spend some ten days in an active speaking tour of Allen county. Congressman Cline can point with justifiable pride to a record of distinct service to the Twelfth district since he has been an occupant of the congressional seat, and he can confidently expect a return to Washington by the largest plurality the Twelfth district has given any congressional nominee in years.

INDIAN SUMMER.

(Kansas City Star.)

The season of the year is upon us which our grandmothers used to call Indian summer. Just why they called it that remains uncertain, but the season's charm, happily, is not a matter of doubt. Take any one of a half dozen car lines that lead to the open country, and then set out on foot for the nearest hills. If you are the average city dweller there will be in that journey afoot all the joy of exploring the unknown, of a voyage over uncharted seas, and that pleasure will be heightened by the season.

The woods are not yet aflame with color—that will come a little later. But they are green and still, breathing lightly and almost ready to fall asleep. The trees seem to know that they have only a little time now before beginning the long winter nap, and in a silent rapture they are making the most of it. A blue, blue haze hangs over the farther hills, a haze that melts slowly as you draw near to it, recedes, but it is shining gently, with a soft golden radiance wholly different from the fierce heat rays of a few weeks since. The very atmosphere is fairy-like and still, full of mysterious things and whispering voices that seem to tell of never-never lands beyond the hazy hills. Breathing the atmosphere and basking in the gentle sunlight you are filled with peace and with a feeling of great restfulness. Under the kindly influence of Indian summer the vagabond explorer quite forgets for the time a myriad of small annoyances of every-day life. Somehow they seem not so important after all.

APPLES AND LONGEVITY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

Indiana's apple crop, from all indications, promises to be excellent. There is no reason, then, why our citizens should not enjoy this fruit at a small expense. News dispatches from the country over give notice of the rising price in meats, and while apples can not take the place of meat, yet one can promote health by limiting the quantity of animal food and eating other food, including plenty of apples. Dietitians are all agreed that ripe raw apples contain more phosphates in proportion to their bulk than any other food. A scientific writer recently declared, on this point, that in this lies the secret of healthful longevity. So why not become apple eaters?

People spend considerable money for certain "foreign" foods and fruits, which are usually high of price and pale of taste. They do not use apples, usually comparatively cheap and grown right at home and the best of all fruits. "Eat uncooked apples and drink distilled water and years will be added to your life, while the evidence of age will be long in coming." This is the opinion of a dietitian.

The argument is based on the supposition that as age advances, the deposits of mineral matter in the system increase. Inasmuch as phosphoric acid contains the least amount of earth salts it is therefore the nearest approach to the elixir of life known. Apples contain a great amount of phosphoric acid. The conclusion is obvious. They will help to solve the cost-of-living problem, and, as usual, Indiana has the solution of her problems within her own boundaries.

A NEW PROFESSION AT FIFTY.

(New York World.)

In many respects the most interesting college graduate of the year is Inman R. Scalby, late commander of the White Star steamer Republic, who, having completed a course of study at the University of Michigan, is about to begin the practice of admiralty law.

How many men have the pluck and self-reliance necessary to embark on a new career at fifty and to spend a part of their precious remaining years in a college course by way of preparation? It is by no means unusual for men at that time of life to take on new duties in connection with those they are already performing. But a radical change of vocation such as that from ship's captain to lawyer requires a confidence in one's capacity possessed by but few.

Captain Scalby was exonerated in Judge Hough's court last year of responsibility for the sinking of the Republic in collision with the Florida in January, 1909. The sea was left open to him, but he has made a hazard of new fortunes under conditions which render his example an encouraging one to men who at his period of life would falter at the prospect of having to take up an untried profession.

MARRIED LIFE IN CLEVELAND.

(Pittsburg Dispatch.)

Being a husband in Cleveland must be a strenuous occupation, judging by two incidents of one day's record in that town. Testifying in a divorce case one man swore that in two years his better half had thrown butcher knives at him over a hundred times and he dodged them all. Often when he was sitting reading the paper his wife, he said, would turn out the light and chase him around the table with a butcher knife.

Another husband, married three years, testified that in those thirty-six months he had received thirt-three beatings at the hands of his wife. Called to the stand, she did not deny the record, saying: "I just had to beat him to make him mind. There was no way but beating him. The first three months I tried kindness, but he wanted to spend all the money and I just had to take him in hand."

Is it any wonder Cuyahoga county turned down that suffrage amendment?

HUGE GOBBLER HATCHES EGGS.

Turkey Insists on Caring for Sitting of Guinea Eggs.

Edwardsville, Ill., Sept. 30.—A large white turkey gobbler on the Gashing farm, owned by Charles Obert and situated about twelve miles northeast of here, has taken upon himself the task of hatching a sitting of guinea eggs, and that, too, against the will of the guinea hen which formerly held possession of the nest which the turkey now occupies. The gobbler, after a careful investigation of the matter, decided that he would like to try his skill at batching, and proceeded immediately and without ceremony to chase the hen from the nest. Since that time the turkey has held possession and has stuck to the nest closer than even the guinea hen would have done. The question of whether or not the turkey will continue to be a mother to the guineas after the eggs hatch is causing much speculation among the people near the Gashing farm.

Girlish, Wrinkle-Free Skin Easy to Have

(From Pilgrim Magazine.)

Since its remarkable astringent and tonic properties became known, clever women all over the world have been using the saxolite face bath to "tone up" their faces, remove wrinkles and draw flabby cheeks and neck back to normal. After using the solution, the face immediately feels much firmer. The skin tightens evenly, gradually, all over the face, thus reducing lines and sagginess. The formula is: Powdered saxolite, 1 ounce, dissolved in witch hazel, ½ pint.

Another wonderful facial beautifier and rejuvenator that has become quite a rage in the United States, as in Europe, is mercolized wax. Druggists report a great demand. The wax literally absorbs a sallow, blotchy or withered complexion, giving the fresh, vigorous, healthy-hued young skin underneath a chance to "breathe" and to show itself. Applying the wax at night, like cold cream, washing it off mornings, will completely renovate a poor complexion in a week or ten days. One ounce usually is sufficient.

THEY KEEP EYE ON RATTLERS.

Box of "Texas Bellringers," Expressed North, Annoys Agents.

Huntingdon, Pa., Sept. 30.—With a box of squirming, angry rattlesnakes on their hands and no place to deliver it, the local employes of the Adams Express company have found their hair standing on end the last few days. "C. O. D. $15," are instructions on the crate of writhing "bellringers" sent from San Antonio, Texas, and consigned to F. M. Worner. Several days ago Worner gave a snake exhibition here, and left town. As the training of Agent Charles Norris never included running a rattlesnake boarding house, he has been hard pressed to keep the reptiles this side of the happy hunting grounds without getting their poison fangs into any of his force.

Col. C. A. Munson, of Governor Gray's staff; Hons. R. C. Bell, J. B. White and Edward O'Rourke, members of the state reception committee, will go to Indianapolis to meet President Cleveland next Saturday.

R. T. McDonald yesterday sold to New York city an electric light plant of 250 arc lights and 5,000 incandescent lights. The sale is regarded as one of the greatest yet made by the local company, as most of the leading concerns of the country were after the contract.

LOCAL NURSES ATTEND.

The Misses Logan and Elliott Are at Indianapolis Meeting.

Miss Laura R. Logan, superintendent of Hope hospital, and Miss M. L. Elliott, a trained nurse, left this morning for Indianapolis to attend the annual meeting of the Indiana State Nurses' association, which opened there this morning and will continue until tomorrow evening. The superintendents had charge of the meeting today and tomorrow will be nurses' day. The meetings are being well attended and among the speakers are people of national note, included being Dr. Wiley and Miss Jane Delano, the latter the chairman of the National Red Cross society, with headquarters in Washington. Miss Logan will respond to the address of welcome to the nurses. Miss Elliott is the secretary of the State Nurses' association. The nurses will attend in a body a meeting of the Health Conservation Congress on invitation from that organization.

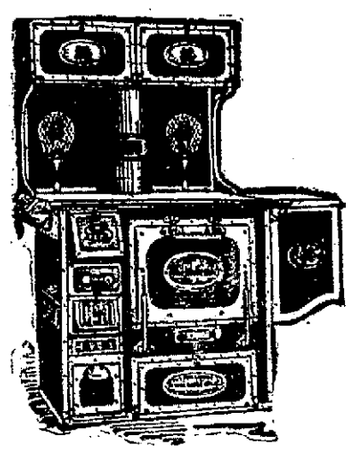
We Are Going to Have a Big Cooking and Range Demonstration In Our Store All Week

An expert Range Demonstrator will be present and conduct this exhibit.

Did you ever eat food cooked in paper bags? It is simply delicious. Every bit of flavor is retained in the roast, or whatever is being cooked, because the bags are air-tight.

The Range used will be

THE SOUTH BEND MALLEABLE RANGE



All-Ways Preferable.

You will know how much All-Ways means when you see the range. It means the most beautiful-looking range, that it will do the best work with the smallest amount of fuel, and that it will last longer than any other range made. We know this to be a fact, but we want you to find it out for yourself.

During this exhibit, if you buy a South Bend Malleable, we will make you a present of a set of high-grade cooking ware, including four large pieces of pure aluminum, also a set of cooking bags and show you how to use them. All visitors will receive a useful souvenir. We want you to come.

NEW MOVEMENT IN THE DIOCESE

Steps Made Toward Formation of a Church Extension Society.

IT IS A SACRED DUTY

Rt. Rev. H. J. Alerding, the bishop of the diocese, has inaugurated plans for the formation of a diocesan extension society, the purpose of which will be providing for the religious needs of certain classes of immigrants coming into the diocese, particularly those in the northwestern part of the diocese—the Poles, Slovaks, Hungarians, Croatians and others. They need churches and schools in which they can be ministered to and their children educated in their own languages and by priests and teachers who speak those languages. For this purpose churches and schools need to be erected and to get these will be the purpose of this diocesan extension society.

At a recent meeting held the diocesan consultors recommended that a committee be appointed to further this movement. This committee consists of the bishop and Revs. H. F. J. Kroll and J. F. Delaney. The committee has taken the first steps, having visited Gary, Indiana Harbor, East Chicago, Hammond and other points in the northwestern part of the diocese to investigate conditions. They spent several days there viewing possible sites, etc., and as a result the committee favored the proposed movement, the bishop issuing a statement setting forth its great need and the need also of financial help in the erection of buildings, the immigrants generally being too poor to assist in a large measure.

An appeal has been issued to the clergy of the diocese in behalf of this movement and it will be followed by one to the laity. It will call for immediate helpful astion, setting forth that this is a necessity and a sacred duty. Doubtless the work undertaken will become a permanent fixture of the Fort Wayne diocese.

CHAFIN SCORES METHODISTS.

Sensational Incident Attends Nominee's Visit to Grand Rapids.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 30.—Eugene W. Chafin, prohibition candidate for president of the United States, yesterday was denied permission to speak from the pulpits of three Methodist churches of this city. Addressing an audience at the City Rescue Mission, after the regular service late in the afternoon, the candidate made a bitter attack on the Methodists of this city, and denounced Rev. John R. T. Lathrop, superintendent of Grand Rapids district, as "a whisky presiding elder."

Mr. Chafin had been advertised to make six addresses here yesterday, but was able to find available places for only four. The meeting at the City Rescue Mission was sensational. Rev. John W. Sheehan, pastor of one of the Methodist churches, rose in the audience to declare that Mr. Chafin was not stating the truth. Several prohibitionists also jumped to their feet and shouted that Grand Rapids had been disgraced by the treatment accorded their candidate.

SESSION OF GRAND LODGE.

Knights of Pythias Will Meet in Indianapolis Next Tuesday.

Delegates to the convention of the grand lodge of Knights of Pythias are making preparations for the session of the grand lodge to be held in Indianapolis next Sunday. The local delegates will leave this city on Monday night for the capital city. L. D. Houk will represent Phoenix lodge No. 101, and J. V. Wilson, Walter Felger and William Spaulding are the delegates from No. 116. The sessions will last until Wednesday night.

The Pythian Sisters will meet in Indianapolis next Thursday. Mrs. J. E. Miller will attend the meeting as a delegate of Rathbone temple No. 31, of this city. The four delegates of the past chiefs' association are Mrs. Mary Fratis, Mrs. Emma Switz, Mrs. Reta Sheer and Mrs. Mattie Shaw. Mrs. Edna Black, the grand outer guard, will also attend the meeting.

You can't find clothes that have better style than these; they're the liveliest fashions ever offered to well-dressed men. Special designers have given the highest artistic skill and the most careful thought to the production of models for young men that would give the wearers an air of dignified distinction; clothes that have the "high-class" look; not too extreme in fashion, and yet not too quiet and "tame" for the taste of the keen, alert young man, in colloege or business. This store is the home of Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes.

In addition to our great showing of fine Suits made by this firm, we are showing all the choice Suits made by Hirsh Wickwire, "L" System and Robert Wicks. More Norfolk Suits at $12.00 to $35.00 than you can find in all other stores in the city.

ART SMITH IS TO FLY IN THIS CITY

Local Boy Aviator Here for Visit After Western Successes.

COMING NEXT WEEK

Art Smith, Fort Wayne's boy aviator, who during the summer has been making spectacular aeroplane flights in the west, dropped off in Fort Wayne today for a few hours' visit with his mother, and while here announced that if present plans are carried out, he will be in Fort Wayne next for a two days' exhibition.

Smith is en route to Sisterville, W. Va., from Madison, Wis., where he completed his nineteenth engagement during the season. Since August 1 the local bird boy has staged twelve exhibition flights and had fairly taken the west by storm. He only missed two engagements during the summer. At one time he was unable to get into the air on account of the wind, and at another time a part of his machine went wrong.

The lad flies at Sisterville on Thursday and Friday of this week, and will return home Sunday, at which time he will complete arrangements for his exhibition to be staged at the Fort Wayne Driving park, where he first flew an aeroplane.

Mechanician is Flying.

Winferd Peters, Smith's mechanician, who has traveled with the bird boy all season, and who helped Smith build his first home-made aeroplane, is today taking his first lesson. He remained in Chicago and is making trial flights at Cicero field. As soon as Peters masters the art he will get a machine and travel through the south this winter with Smith.

Peters has been in the air with Smith and made a long flight as a passenger at Clifton, Nebraska.

FATAL AUTO ACCIDENT.

One Man Killed and Three Others Injured at Venice, Ohio.

Cincinnati, Sept. 30.—One man was instantly killed, one probably fatally injured and two others seriously hurt when an automobile in which they were riding turned over yesterday at Venice, Ohio, a hamlet a short distnace from here. James Caldwell, a local florist, was thrown on his head and died immediately.

Ferd Ankerhaur, chaffeur, sustained internal injuries and a broken leg and may die.

Members of Hive No. 6, L. O. T. M., are requested to be present at lodge Wednesday night. Business of importance.

START CAMPAIGN FOR OUR SAFETY

Local Traction Heads Begin Organization of Safety Club.

TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

The Fort Wayne & Northern Indiana Traction company has started a campaign for the promotion of the prevention of accidents, and within a few days will perfect the organization of a safety club, which will have for its members, heads of the traction departments, employes of the company, and any outside persons who desire to become associated with the club.

"As a city corporation and as a traction line, we are going after the accident question," said C. E. Palmer, superintendent of transportation. "There is a way of preventing many accidents, and our plan is to find this way, and instruct the employes and patrons of the lines in the best manner to avoid accidents."

A series of lectures and stereopticon addresses will be given during the winter months and dates for the meetings will be announced within a few days.

MINERS HOLDING OUT.

Utah Men Will Not Return to Work Until Demands Are Met.

Bingham, Utah, Sept. 30.—There were no indications this morning that work would be resumed at the Bingham mines, although there was a rumor that the United State and Yampa mines would be opened tomorrow. Officials of these companies refuse either to deny or confirm the report.

That the miners will not return to work until the companies meet the demands of the union was the announcement made here today. A meeting of the miners was held last night and a resolution was adopted refuting the statement of J. M. Hayes, assistant secretary and cashier of the Utah Copper company to the effect that more than 80 per cent of the strikers are willing to go back to work when adequate protection is afforded them.

SEVERS JUGULAR VEIN.

Sailor in Chicago Slays Man He Says Robbed Him.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Michael Cooper, a sailor who had been robbed of his earnings two hours previous, darted across the street in front of the Northwestern railway station early today and plunged a knife into the jugular vein of David Weathers, a clerk. Weathers bled to death in two minutes.

Cooper told the policemen who arrested him he was sure Weathers was the man who robbed him.

NEGRO BURGLAR GETS LONG TERM

John Smith Given Sentence of from Ten to Twenty Years.

OTHER COURT NEWS

John Smith, the negro who went to sleep August 15 after he had broken into the residence of W. W. Rockhill, at 712 Rockhill street, was sentenced in the circuit court this morning to a term of ten to twenty years in the state's prison, charged with burglary. Smith would not talk when brought before the court.

Notes of the Courts.

Myrtle Baldwin was granted a divorce in the superior court this morning from Louis Baldwin.

Rebecca Youse was granted a divorce in the superior court from Nelson Youse.

Caroline Whitmore has filed a complaint for divorce from Henry E. Whitmore. In her complaint she alleges that they lived together for thirty years and that during the last ten years he subjected her to cruel and inhuman treatment. Leonard, Rose & Zollars are attorneys for the plaintiff.

The will of the late Mary Sinel was filed this morning. Edward T. Sinel is named as executor and her property is divided among three children—Joseph M. Sinel, of Indianapolis; Edward T. and John F. Sinel, of Fort Wayne.

PROBE AUGUSTA KILLINGS.

Military Court-Martial to Investigate Slaying of Citizens.

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 20.—Investigation of the killing of three citizens by members of the state militia—an outgrowth of the strike of Augusta street railway employes—was started today. The three men killed trespassed on "deadline" territory established by the militia to protect the railway company's power plant.

Captain Jowitt and Captain Henderson, together with every man who guarded the "deadline," will face trial by a military court. It is expected the hearings will take place this week.

Gov. Brown ordered a thorough investigation of the shootings. None of the men killed was a striker. All were business men and their friends assert that they were ignorant of the line established by the soldiers. The city continued quiet yesterday and late last night the military force was reduced to forty men. Negotiations looking to a settlement of the strike proved fruitless.

SIGN FOR SCULLING MATCH.

London, Sept. 30.—Besides the sculling championship of the world, Ernest Barry, of London, the holder, and Edward Hanlan Durman, of Toronto, will compete on the Thames for a challenge cup of $5,000 in cash on Oct. 14. Each of the men deposited $1,250 as forfeit when they signed articles today.

George Eckles underwent an operation at Hope hospital this morning.

REED TAKES HOTEL

Assumes Ownership of Swineford at Auburn.

Edward Reed, one of the best known hotel men of Northern Indiana, has assumed the management of the Swineford hotel at Auburn, recently purchased by him and his brother, William Reed, owner of the Hayes hotel at Warsaw, Ind.

Mr. Reed comes from a family of hotel men, his parents formerly operating the old Mayer hotel in this city. Mr. Reed has lived in Fort Wayne all his life, and has been identified with the hotel business here for years. He was formerly a clerk at the Arcline hotel, and for the last three years has been chief clerk at the Randall hotel.

He is succeeded here by C. E. Kershner, of the Tremont hotel at Wabash.

ROYAL ARCANUM RALLY DAY.

Local Organization Plans for Big Meeting This Week.

Grand Regent F. G. Conrady, of the Royal Arcanum, has been advised that Past Grand Regent John Russe, of Lawrenceburg, and Grand Secretary Edward Schroer, of Indianapolis, will accept invitations to attend the meeting of Howard council next Friday evening, in this city. In honor of the distinguished visitors the local council will have special exercises following the class initiation. The meeting will be closed with a smoker and luncheon, at which time addresses will be delivered by the grand officers.

OSSIAN MAN IS DEAD.

William Milliken Passes Away After Year's Illness.

Ossian, Ind., Sept. 30.—William Milliken, a well-to-do retired farmer, died at his home here this morning after an extended illness. Mr. Milliken's health broke down some months ago, and he had failed rapidly. He was about 65 years of age and is survived by the widow, and a son, A. H. Milliken, of Wayland, Mich.

WILL MEET ON TUESDAY.

On account of the Ralston meeting, which will be held on Wednesday evening, the North Side Civic Improvement association will hold its regular meeting in the Bloomingdale schoolhouse on Tuesday night instead of Wednesday night, as has been customary.

The straightening of the St. Mary's river will be the important topic of discussion. The north siders are determined to have this improvement made and demand that the work be paid for by assessments if not by the general funds. A report of this will be made at the next council meeting by them to a committee of the common council.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

Stanislaw Grzybowski, 23, carpenter, and Stanislawa Gronska, 18.

John N. Helter, 33, carpenter, and Rebecca M. Potterfield, 30.

Michael C. Hosler, 21, iron worker, and Flora M. Walda, 22.

Reserved seats for Fi-Fi on the evening of the play, balconv. 50c and 75c.

CITY BREVITIES.

C. E. Kershner, of Wabash, until recently a clerk in the Tremont hotel at Wabash, will start today in the position of day clerk at the Randall hotel here. He succeeds Ed Reed, who has gone to Auburn to manage the Swineford hotel, which was recently purchased by his brother.

C. E. Boyers, of Montpelier, O., underwent an operation this morning at Hope hospital.

Harry M. Williams, secretary of the business form of government committee of the Indiana Federated Commercial clubs, will appear before the South Bend Chamber of Commerce tomorrow evening and will thoroughly explain the Fort Wayne plan. The South Bend organization is investigating the various modes of city government and will ask the state legislature to adopt the one which appears the most favorable.

MAKES SWEEPING DENIAL.

Accused Detroit Alderman Says Charges Are False.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 30.—Alderman Richard Watson, one of the seventeen aldermen under arrest for conspiracy in the councilmanic grait cases, today in police court made a sweeping denial of the allegations contained in the confession of Edward Schreiter, former council clerk. Watson was testifying in his own behalf and it was expected that other accused aldermen would take the stand later in the day. Schreiter's confession is said to have been the basis of the conspiracy charges.

SENATOR FALL DENIES IT.

El Paso, Tex., Sept. 30.—Senator A. B. Fall denied today that he and Senator William Smith, of the special senate committee investigating conditions in Mexico, had decided to recommend intervention. He added that no preliminary report had or would be made until the ultimate findings of the committee were announced. Senator Smith is in California and Mr. Fall is here directing the investigation.

TWENTY TAKE EXAMINATIONS.

Twenty applicants for teachers' license took the last examination this year Saturday afternoon at the court house. Superintendent Henry Felger had charge of the special tests. Several of those who took the examination had previously taken the county examinations, but had failed. The grades will be announced by Mr. Felger in a few days.

WILL HOLD SOCIAL MEETING.

The regular meeting of the St. Peter's council No. 1, C. B. L. of L. will be held on Tuesday evening at St. Peter's school hall. Every member is urged to be present, as plans for securing new members will be adopted. After the meeting progressive euchre will be played and several valuable prizes will be awarded to the winners at the games. Refreshments will be served and a good time is expected by all members of the council.

NEW SWITCHBOARD.

The Home Telephone and Telegraph company closed a contract today with the S. F. Bowser company for a new switchboard for the private exchange at the factory. The new equipment is modern in every respect. The improvement was needed because of the rapid growth of the Bowser company, the old switchboard becoming too small to carry the lines.

Many friends are interested in the coming nuptials of Miss Katherine Freese and Earl Thompson, which will take place on Wednesday evening in the Wayne street M. E. church at half past 8 o'clock. The Rev. Claud Travis will officiate at the service. The attendants will be Miss Philippine Schmidt, honor maid; Miss Gertrude Thompson, a sister of the groom, Miss Olive Doud and Miss Mabel Grubb, who will be bridesmaids, and two children, niece and nephew of the bride from Marion, Katherine and Fred Treadway, who will carry flowers and the wedding ring. Mr. Thompson will have the support of his brother Frank as best man and Messrs. Walter Curdes, Otto Fuelber and Albert Carter will be the ushers. A reception will be held after the wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Freese, of West Wayne street.

Miss Fannie Winch returned yesterday from Mackinac island, where she had been since the middle of July.

The Cheerful Aid society will meet at the home of Mrs. C. A. Segur, 538 Montgomery street, tomorrow afternoon.

J. A. Calhoun has returned from Burt Lake, Mich., where he had been for several weeks.

Miss Lillian Bertsch spent Sunday in Kendallville and had as her guest Miss Agnes Gerow.

Miss Mildred Bowser left on Saturday for Washington, D. C., to continue her studies at National Park seminary.

There will be a social meeting of the Nineteenth Century club tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Peter Pickard.

The Woman's Reading club will hold its opening meeting of the season tomorrow afternoon with Mrs. I. N. Taylor, 1115 West Berry street.

Miss M. M. Colerick, Miss Margie Hanna and Charles Hanna have returned from Leland, Mich. Miss Hanna spent the summer there.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Hinman, who lived here for some time but are now residing in Columbus, O., will learn with interest of the birth of a son to them.

Miss Florence Lang and Mrs. Fred E. Hoffman will leave tomorrow for New York city. Miss Lang is to be a pupil of Oscar Saenger in voice culture during the winter.

Miss Lucy Bash has gone to New York to spend the winter in voice culture. Mrs. C. S. Bash accompanied her daughter to New York for a few days' stay.

The hostesses for the Willing Workers' Aid society tomorrow afternoon at the home of Mrs. Granger, 501 High street, will be Mesdames Abery, Crowe, Sharp, Sellars, Schoch and Knoche.

Mrs. E. K. Safford and daughter, Jane, and Mrs. F. I. Brown and niece, Miss Persis Bond, left today for New York. Both of the young girls are going to the Misses Tewkesbury's school at Irvington.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Bash and children left today for Indianapolis. Mrs. Bash and children have been at the Bash farm all summer with the exception of Master Sol, who came home last night from Mackinac island.

The members of the Eta Alpha club gave a luncheon at the Anthony hotel on Saturday in honor of Miss Katherine Freese. In the afternoon Miss Philippine Schmidt entertained a few intimate friends of Miss Freese at the Majestic theater matinee.

Mrs. Frank Sessions, accompanied by her father, William Crighton, came from Cleveland on Saturday, where Mr. Crighton had been visiting his daughter and his son, Tom Crighton, for some weeks. Mrs. Sessions will remain a few days visiting relatives.

Mrs. Fred Schmidt, of South Broadway, gave three prettily appointed dinner parties recently at which she entertained members of social clubs to which she belongs and a number of other intimate friends. Wednesday, Thursday and Friday were the days Mrs. Schmidt selected to be hostess.

Miss Anna Rocholl was given a pretty party with a miscellaneous shower of gifts on Friday evening at the home of Miss Eva Erwin, of St. Mary's avenue. A supper, daintily served, tonsis in honor of the bride-elect and the pretty gifts showered upon her, were principal features of the good time in addition to music and games.

The Sophomore class of St. Augustine's academy was entertained by Miss Marguerite Ely, of Rivermet avenue, on Saturday, at a luncheon. Mrs. Moreland catered. Music and dancing were enjoyed and an eight mile ride besides. Those who took part in this merry party were Misses Camilla Roussel, Frances Rolape, Amelia Moran, Gertrude Wilkinson, Irene Miller, Cleotus Kinley, Gertrude O'Neil, Margaret Costello and the hostess.

The Misses Mildred and Verne Bowser were given a happy surprise on Saturday when their mother, Mrs. S. F. Bowser, arranged a breakfast party at 8 o'clock at their own home and invited seven intimate friends to join them. In spite of the fact that it was a breakfast the birthday cake occupied the honor place on the table and a wreath of smilax and red rosebuds half opened formed a beautiful setting to the cake. The cake was dotted with tiny red tapers in celebration of the natal anniversaries of the two daughters, which come close together. The guests were Misses Mary Menefee, Eva Smith, Margaret Raeder, Helen Curdes and Ruth Ricker.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer H. Rogers, of 2315 Lafayette street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Mr. Leroy Schrader, of Peru, which took place in Huntington Friday evening, Sept. 27, at half-past 7 o'clock. The ceremony was performed by Rev. A. D. Whitney, of the Baptist church. The bridegroom is a machinist and will take his bride to Peru to live. Mr. Schrader had been spending some time recently in Huntington with relatives and obtained the marriage license there.

Two Young Women Who Take Part in "Fi-Fi of the Toy-Shop"

MISS STELLA PAUKEN.

MISS EDITH NICKELL as "Fi-Fi."

"FI-FI OF THE TOY SHOP" TUESDAY

Operetta Will Be Given Two Days at Majestic for Charity's Sake.

Preparations are completed for the two nights' performances of "Fi-Fi of the Toy Shop" at the Majestic for the purpose of raising funds to establish a day nursery. The first performance will be given tomorrow evening and will be repeated on Wednesday. Already the interest in the entertainment has been gratifying to those who are working so hard to make the operetta a success. The performance will no doubt justify expectations and music and dancing features, all by local talent, promise many pretty things.

AT THE MAJESTIC.

"The Penalty" This Evening.

"The Penalty," a powerful play with a strong appeal and one of the most sensational plays seen in recent years, closes its engagement at the Majestic this evening.

It presents the spectacle of an upright son confronted with the misdeeds of his mother. The story follows: A divorced couple, who still meet on fairly friendly terms, are the central figures, together with their son, who has just become engaged to marry a girl of high social standing. It develops that the mother has long been supported by a wealthy man, who refuses to marry her. The former husband, knowing this, tries to blackmail his ex-wife. Failing in this, he becomes intoxicated and gives the secret away. It comes to the ears of the son through the family of the girl he wishes to marry. In the third act there is a very tense scene, in which the son confronts the mother. At the conclusion of it the mother shoots her lover. This scene has a vast deal of dramatic power and proves thrilling. In the last act the son determines to assume responsibility for the murder. After listening to the persuasion of his mother she goes to the death room. There a shot is heard which implies her suicide at the final curtain. The play is presented by a capable cast.

AT THE TEMPLE

This afternoon to the Temple comes another big bill headed by the popular dramatic star, Walter C. Perival, who comes with a faultless cast and will present what New York critics have termed a classic as a playlet entitled, "The Choice." Mr. Perival will best be remembered for his clever portrayals of the Son in the original production of the "Lion and the Mouse" and as the Artist in Henry W. Savage's version of "The Devil."

The rest of the acts on the bill will all be great and include The Georgia Trio in their latest success, "Here and There in Vaudeville;" Gormley and Caffray in "Bumping the Bumps;" J. Warren Keene and Company in "The Quality Act:" Mason and Murray in a refined singing and talking specialty; Chas. Gibbs in musical imitations; the Gaumont Weekly showing the world's current events and a delightful musical program Prof. Dicey has arranged for the orchestra.

HAPPY AND HEALTHFUL.

There was once a wise woman who realized the possibilities of health for her husband and children at the family table.

She had learned by experience that pleasant conversation should wait on digestion, just as good digestion on appetite. Nutritious food she provided in variety day after day, but she went further than that. She made it a point that meal time should be hours of refreshment even more for the mind than the body.

Robert Louis Stevenson recognized humor to be a saving grace in that beautiful morning prayer of his:

"Help us," he says, "to perform the petty round of irritating duties and concerns with laugher and kind faces, to go blithely on the business of the day; to let cheerfulness abound with industry."

So the wise woman had every painful topic promptly dismissed at her board, and business cares and burdens were not so much as hinted at. Bright and gay talk only was cultivated by common consent.

"The children were never scolded, nor the father of the family called to book. It was not found difficult to keep the talk in pleasant channels, and the effort was amply repaid both at the time and later," she said.

Grover Miller will begin tonight as night clerk at the Wayne hotel, and Edward Limecody will go on the day shift.

FLAME SILK AND CHANTILLY LACE ON THIS FALL MODEL.

The main purpose in looking at fashions is to get an idea, not necessarily to copy them exactly.

This is particularly true in hat styles which must conform to the individual taste and bear the mark of the personal touch to be characteristic.

Because this is so, some women will choose large hats this winter and some will wear the small, close-fitting ones. Some will have elaborate trimmings and others will be extremely simple. This dashing model of the former type is covered with flame-colored silk over which is shirred real Chantilly lace, a frill of lace under the brim is set so that it will rest on the wearer's hair.

Half way up the tall crown is encircled by a pleated ruching of vivid red velvet, and over this is fastened a heavy cord of silver with an ornament and tassels at one side. The hat is set down over the face, the head sinking into the high conical crown.

The Ladies' Auxiliary to the German Landwehrverein will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Weithuse, 1136 Wabash avenue.

You Don't Have to Be an Artist to Draw Butterflies.

This is to show you how you can make pretty good silhouette pictures of butterflies, even if you have no artistic ability. Secure several sheets of writing paper and some good black ink. Drop a large blot of ink on the center of a sheet of paper, fold the paper over so the blot comes about the center of the crease and rub gently, using just enough pressure to spread the ink between the folds. Now unfold the paper and see what you get. If you want to make real fancy butterflies, you might try using colored inks.

ALL ABOUT RIBBONS.

There has been revealed recently some beautiful ribbons prepared for the coming season. These are of velvet broche, and, alike in coloring, design and quality, frankly surpass anything ever produced. That modistes will quickly realize their value goes without saying, and they are sufficiently superb to be permitted to figure prominently in the most recherche toilets.

There is every prospect, indeed, that they will be made the basis of many designs worked up with lace, for lace has once again got us firmly in its grip, and will not pass away with the summer. Slowly, but very surely, the three-tier lace skirt is making itself felt. The volants are kept very flat, and are mostly broken at the sides by a contrasting drapery. Striped and flowered taffetas is likely to be much in request, together with soft brocades, and through these mediums some really fresh silhouettes should be achieved for evening dress.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

The evening frock of the coming season is to be simple in line, rather of the clinging kind than in the frilled and panniered design of early spring. The tunic remains as a popular mode, and there will be many very charming and decorative draped dresses made of diaphanous chiffons, plain and embroidered in gold and silver.

A very picturesque new model Paris gown in soft pink satin was made with tunic of the same material split on the left side, revealing a tucked piece of satin drawn across the top of the skirt, on which there were half a dozen diamond buttons. The bodice was a perfectly plain Magyar shape, with vest and tiny cuffs of fine white lace and a line of diamante trimming.

Dr. McOscar will give a lecture at the regular meeting of the Knights of Columbus this evening on Japan and Japanese ways.

TONIGHT TAKE A "CASCARET" SURE

No Headache, Sour Stomach, Biliousness or Constipation by morning.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head, sweet stomach and clean, healthy liver and bowel action for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

COMBINATION

GERMAN AMERICAN NATIONAL BANK

The word "combination" is not here used in its ordinary, modern, business sense.

It has reference to the happy combination that has made this bank the great success that everyone knows it to have been.

It refers to the fact that the officers are practical and successful bankers, while the directors are practical and successful business men.

That makes a combination mighty hard to beat, especially when the officers and directors all pull together.

This bank also combines the safety of a national bank with the conveniences of a savings bank. It maintains a saving department where interest is paid at the rate of 4 per cent.

WILSON IS FIRST; THEN ROOSEVELT

Nation-Wide Straw Vote Shows Democrats Far in the Lead.

MANY "ON THE FENCE"

Chicago, Sept. 30.—The results of the national political canvass made by the Record-Herald show that, with election day five weeks away, the race at present lies between Roosevelt and Wilson, with Taft running third. As the candidates round the post Wilson apparently is in the lead, but—a homestretch of five weeks confronts the runners.

A large portion of the 15,000,000 voters in the country are still "on the fence." They are undecided as to how they shall cast their ballots; they are in a ruminative mood. All indications are that the contest will be decided only in the closing two weeks or more of the campaign.

The vote that is at present silent will perhaps be the most powerful of the factors in deciding who wins Nov. 5.

Many Are Undecided.

The magnitude of this undecided vote is just now one of the most pronounced phenomena of the campaign. Wherever the canvassers work its proportions are disclosed. At Detroit, for instance, 1,500 of the Record-Herald's test ballots were distributed at the Michigan state fair. They were not handed out haphazard, but were given to voters with a direct request that they mark and drop them in the ballot box. Of the 1,500 ballots only 650 were deposited. When the counters opened the envelopes they found that only 255 had been marked.

In the labor of making a comprehensive canvass of the country the Record-Herald has associated with it six other great metropolitan journals, the New York Herald, the Boston Globe, the Cincinnati Enquirer, the St. Louis Republic, the Los Angeles Times and the Denver Republican, each of which has covered a section assigned to it. Thus it has been possible to make a detailed study of the conditions from coast to coast, the only territory not embraced in the work being nine states in the solid south, where there are no signs that traditions are to be shattered.

Retains Old Bryan Strongholds.

The canvass shows Wilson is holding the seventeen states carried in 1908 by Bryan, while in addition he is the favorite candidate in states that until this year with its intricate political complexities, have been republican strongholds.

In the home states of all three candidates Wilson is leading. In Ohio, where the republican party is split perhaps worse than in any other commonwealth, surface indications and the logic in the situation favor Wilson. All three forces are making a desperate battle in Taft's home state.

In New York, Roosevelt's home state, Wilson is in the lead, and unless there is a change in sentiment in the next five weeks the democratic candidate will win the forty-five electoral votes of the Empire state, which has not been carried by a democratic presidental candidate since the election of Cleveland in 1892. New Jersey, of which Wilson is governor, will go democratic, unless all the prophets prove failures.

Leads Also in New England.

In rock-ribbed New England, the canvass places Wilson in the lead. Maine and Rhode Island would go to Wilson if the election were held today, according to all indications; Massachusetts, where for two years democracy has been steadily ascendant, is tending toward Wilson, and so are Vermont and Connecticut. In all this territory the contest now is between Wilson and Roosevelt. In New Hampshire at the present time it lies between Taft and Wilson.

In the western states, which are regarded as the great battlefield of the campaign, Roosevelt is displaying great strength. The question of final supremacy depends on how the voters who are now noncommittal decide to vote.

Illinois, for instance, which is considered a pivotal state, is the scene of a battle between Roosevelt and Wilson, in which the bull moose has the better of it in all the polls made to date in the Record-Herald's canvass, but where, on the other hand, the defection of republicans to Wilson appears by the straw ballots to be somewhat larger than the movement of democrats to Roosevelt. Wilson, however, is losing many democratic votes to Debs.

Wisconsin for Taft.

Michigan is no a Roosevelt state, and if the election were held tomorrow the chances are the progressive candidate would make a runaway race of it. Wisconsin is the scene of a neck-and-neck race between Wilson and Taft, with Wilson apparently losing ground and Taft gaining it, the LaFollette vote being the great factor in the badger commonwealth.

Minnesota, on the other hand, is regarded as Roosevelt's by 50,000 were the election held next week, but a strong Wilson sentiment has manifested itself within the last few weeks, and from now on it will be a hard fought contest between the democrats and progressives.

The Dakotas are the seat of rampant Rooseveltism, but even there conditions are so mixed that it is no one's victory at present—the La Follette element in the two states holding a "balance of power" position, as in Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Iowa, like Illinois, contains a great Roosevelt sentiment, but third party complications are favoring Wilson.

Indiana Favors Wilson.

Indiana, the home state of Thomas Marshall, democratic candidate for vice-president, is regarded as democratic this year. The progressives are showing their greatest strength on the governorship, Albert J. Beveridge, who was chairman of the progressive national convention, being the leading candidate. It is Wilson and Beveridge thus far in the canvass.

On the coast, California is doubtful, but inclines toward Wilson now; Oregon is for Taft, while Idaho and Washington are for Roosevelt.

To the southwest, New Mexico is doubtful, while Arizona looks like a Wilson state. Oklahoma, where the democrats have a normal majority of 25,000, is Wilson's.

In the Rockies, Colorado, which was in the Bryan column in 1908, is so split that the situation is full of uncertainties. Roosevelt's recent visit stirred up tremendous enthusiasm, but the canvass and all other surface indications show that Wilson is holding the democratic vote.

Wyoming, naturally republican, is this year debatable, and so is Montana.

Utah is Taft's just now, since President Joseph F. Smith of the Mormon church came out for him a day or two ago.

Missouri Democratic.

Missouri, the "mysterious stranger" that appeared in the republican ranks in 1904, shows indications of giving Wilson a plurality of 20,000 this year.

Kansas is claimed by all three parties, while in Nebraska it appears that Wilson will be stronger in Bryan's home state than Bryan himself.

The great state of Pennsylvania with its thirty-eight electoral votes is shown by the canvass to favor Taft at the present time, although some of the surface indications favor Roosevelt. It is uncertain territory.

The "solid south" gives no indication of departing from its ancient democratic solidarity. Kentucky is considered the one state of the south where the democratic party faces any danger, but even there Wilson will get at least 50 per cent of the vote, according to every indication.

On the face of the returns, if the election were held this week, Wilson would have a majority of the electoral votes, but nothing is certain in politics, and five weeks is a period in which shifts and changes are ever imminent.

No One Sure Winner.

Until the situation in the doubtful states is cleared, and sentiment among the silent voters is crystallized, it will be nobody's battle. The election may prove a close contest; it may develop into a landslide; it may be indecisive and the election of president and vice-president may be thrown into congress. All these are present contingencies.

HONORING TWO SOLDIERS WHO SERVED 30 YEARS IN U. S. ARMY.

QUARTERMASTER SERGEANT WILLIAM MORROW AND SERGEANT JOSEPH SHATSHOK, STANDING AT COLONEL GARDNER'S RIGHT, WATCHING THEIR REGIMENT PASS IN REVIEW.

Headquarters Sixteenth Infantry,
Presidio of San Francisco, Cal.,
September, 1912.

—General Orders, No. 9.—

1. Quartermaster Sergeant William Morrow, Company M, Sixteenth infantry, having completed over thirty years of active service in the army, is, by direction of the president, retired this date.

2. Sergeant Joseph Shatshok, Company H, Sixteenth infantry, having completed over thirty years of active service in the army, is, by direction of the president, retired this date.

3. Their service as soldiers has been honorable and faithful.

4. These worthy soldiers' record is an example to be followed by all the soldiers of this command; and to demonstrate to the regiment that merit is appreciated in the army, this command will be paraded this date in their honor. Sergeants Morrow and Shatshok will come to the front with the line of officers and take places to the right of the commanding officer as the regiment passes in review.

By order of the Colonel.

Col. Cornelius Gardner, in command of the Presidio arm post at San Francisco, is the only man in the United States army who holds a regimental review in honor of retiring private soldiers. The idea is original with him and will no doubt be adopted along with many other of his plans by other regimental commanders. The purpose of this review is to arouse a feeling of closer relationship between the soldiers and their officers, and to teach them that worthy service is appreciated by their commanders. It is the highest courtesy and honor that a commander can extend to place a man at his right during a review, and it impresses the soldiers of a command with the deepest respect to see one of their number treated with the courtesy extended to officers of the highest rank.

After thirty years of active service any soldiers in the United States army, be he officer or private, is retired with his rank and three-fourth pay.

Sergeant Shatshok is a veteran of the Spanish-American war, having served in the Cuban campaign at Santiago and fought in the battle of San Juan Hill and El Caney. Both men served in the Philippines.

COUNTESS IS A NURSE IN HOME

Widow of Count de Koritic Was Once an Austrian Toe Dancer.

AND WAS INJURED

New York, Sept. 30.—It has just become known that one of the nurses in the Home of the Daughters of Jacob, at No. 301 East Broadway, is an Austrian countess. She is Rosa Meinhard, countess de Koritic, a native of Zagueb, Croatia, and widow of Count Charles Felix de Koritic, who was a lieutenant in the dragoon regiment of the emperor of Austria.

Mrs. Meinhard, as she is called at the home, consented to tell how she was led to take up her present work.

"I am not very well known in this country," she said, "but many theater-goers in Europe are familiar with my name and my toe dancing. At the age of seventeen I danced at the court of Emperor Franz Joseph and later went on the stage.

"When I married I gave up the stage, but a year after my husband's death, in 1900, I again took it up.

"About a year ago an agent for the Shuberts offered me a position on Broadway. So I came to New York. I was all ready to begin my work, when, one day, I was getting off a Third avenue car, near the Fort Lee ferry, and was thrown. My ankle was badly sprained and I had to go to a hospital.

"I had to break my contracts, and I saw nothing before me but months of lonesomeness. As soon as I was able to walk again I began to think of finding something to do.

"I had learned something about medicine from my father, Dr. Julius Ifcovich, so when I heard there were all these dear old people down here to be taken care of I asked if I might not help. They said they could not pay me anything, but that didn't matter, so I came. I have been here about two months."

USELESS STRATEGY.

Tessie—Now in fencing, the idea is to feint often.

Nellie—You goose, what's the sense of fainting when there's no man around?"

Excellent Golf Marks Second Benson Cup Flight.

With every contestant playing better than one hundred golf, the second flight of the Benson cup tournament was run off Saturday afternoon at the Fort Wayne Country club. The results of the play were as follows: Fred McCulloch from A. S. Bond, four up and two to play; Charles Pidgeon from Frank Cook, one up, and A. F. Hall from Walter Bauer, two up. Pidgeon, with an 82, copped low score.

The semi-finals will be played next Saturday with the parings as follows: Fred Peters and Fred McCulloch, A. F. Hall and Charles Pidgeon.

BASEBALL ATHLETICS

CLYMER SET A NEW RECORD IN NEW YORK STATE LEAGUE.

MANAGER WILLIAM ("DERBY DAY") CLYMER.

WHAT CLYMER DID IN RECORD BREAKING CLIMB.

Switched players until he obtained results.
Tried out more than fifty players.
Signed the strongest pitching staff in league.
Signed seven good sacrifice hitters.
Found five great base runners.
Insisted upon and obtained harmony.
Signed a catcher who became league's leading hitter.
Retained only brainy players.
Chased the "booze fighters."
Got catchers who were exceptional throwers.

Led by William Clymer, pennant winning manager, the 1911 champions of the New York State league, Wilkesbarre, this year played the most wonderful baseball since baseball became the national sport.

Overcoming difficulties that would have discouraged the most optimistic, changing the line-up of his team three or four times, Clymer, by sheer will power and generalship, piloted the Barons from last place to the lead in one month, won the pennant and saw it given to Utica, by the league president, who overruled the constitution of the league to make a Utica holiday.

Clymer, by his brilliant work, added to his previous great record as a manager of pennant winners, has established himself as the greatest baseball manager in the minor leagues—and many a major league team might employ him with profit.

At the outset this year the pennant was conceded to the champion Wilkesbarre team. Then the uncertainty of baseball proved itself, and in a month Wilkesbarre was doomed to the basement.

Within two weeks three regulars were out with broken legs, two 1911 stars were laid up sick, and two 1911 pitching mainstays went stale.

Clymer made changes, but the team seemed to grow weaker and July 16 saw it near the bottom.

Then "Derby Day" went to work. He bought "Dixie" Walker from Baltimore and Decanniere from St. Paul. Gaiser, a star when right, returned from a six weeks' enforced lay off; Martin, a Yankee farmer, struck his pace and "Jim" Ginley pitched good ball. Clymer traded two players for Deal and Deitz of Syracuse. Two new outfielders were added and the team began to climb.

July 25 the Barons were in last place. August 25 they led the league, having eliminated two teams in the climb. They won ten games on the road, then nine at home; a four-day trip to Troy and Albany added four more and two were added at home, making 25 STRAIGHT VICTORIES, the longest winning streak since 1902, when the Texas league club, Corsicana, won 28.

Manager Clymer has written the story of the race for the Daily Sentinel.

PAULDING LANDS A TOUGH BATTLE

Beat Antwerp in Pitching Duel Between Henline and Joe Carr.

HICKSVILLE TOOK ONE

Standing of the Clubs.

Clubs.	Won.	Lost.	Pct.
Hicksville	11	2	.846
Auburn	13	4	.764
Shamrocks	11	6	.647
Kendallville	7	4	.636
Antwerp	4	5	.444
Columbia City	3	8	.272
Garrett	2	7	.222
Paulding	2	8	.200
Waterloo	2	8	.200
Huntington	2	9	.188

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Paulding, O., Sept. 30.—In spite of the cold weather a good crowd turned out here to see the final game between the local team and the Antwerp Reds and the two clubs staged a game that was anybody's battle until the last man was out in the ninth. Paulding won by a score of 4 to 3, and Henline outclassed Joe Carr in a dandy hurling duel.

After Antwerp had taken a lead of two runs the locals came strong in the fourth and tabbed three, going to the front by a point, but this lasted only an inning, as the Reds managed to send over one that hooked up the count. Paulding scored in the last half and neither side was able to get a man across the rubber in the last three rounds. The score:

Paulding	0	0	0	3	0	1	0	0	4	4	10	3
Antwerp	1	0	1	0	0	1	0	0	0	3	6	5

Batteries—Henline and Twigg; Carr and Carr.

KENDALLVILLE WON THE GAME.

Auburn Charges Defeat to the Presence of League Players.

(Special to The Sentinel.)

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 30.—Kendallville beat Auburn in the presence of a good crowd yesterday, taking the battle, 4 to 2, due in a great measure, to the fact that the weather was a bit too cold for Pitcher Rinear. Frank Oberlin, formerly with the Minneapolis and Washington clubs, and last season with Utica in the New York State league; John Somerlott, Grant and one or two other class B players were added to the Kendallville roster and materially aided the Reds in winning the game.

Rinear passed about a dozen men and when he wasn't wild he was not as effective as usual. Auburn played its regular club with Les Llable behind the bat. Johnny Beard was Oberlin's battery partner.

WHITE SOX LOSE OUT.

In the second game between the Fort Wayne White Sox and Hicksville, the latter won yesterday on its home grounds 13 to 5. Score:

									R.	H.	E.
Sox	0	0	0	0	3	0	0	2	5	8	7
Hicksville	0	1	0	3	0	3	0	6	13	11	3

Batteries—Oestermeyer, Harmeyer and McKee; Gilbert and Fritz.

CHANCE SAYS FEW THINGS.

Has Never Offered Resignation and Will Not Sign Contract.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30.—Frank Chance says he never offered his resignation to President Charles W. Murphy, of the Cubs, that he never intended to retire, that he will handle the club in the city series and that he will not sign a contract containing a liquor clause and will not ask any of his players to do so.

MURPHY CRIPPLED FOR LIFE.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 30.—Danny Murphy, captain of the Athletics, probably never will be able to play baseball again, but he will retain his connection with the Athletics in the capacity of a scout. It has become known that the injury Murphy sustained at Chicago, which caused water to gather at the knee, has left him with a stiff leg.

EARLY START TO INSURE SUCCESS

Athletic Association Will Stage Events Before Cold Weather.

SMALL CROWD THERE

Directors of the Fort Wayne Amateur Athletic association will endeavor to fix a date for the next field and track meet early enough to insure warm weather, which will not only guarantee better attendance, but will enable the entrants in the various events to work up to form and give better accounts of themselves.

A meeting will be held in a short time at which the directors will probably select a date for next fall, at least three weeks earlier than the time fixed for the first contests. This will give all of the organizations plenty of time to prepare and to get the men in the best condition for the events on the program.

The attendance at the Saturday exhibition was a great disappointment. This was undoubtedly due to the cold weather, as it is reasonably certain that there is enough interest in athletics in Fort Wayne to insure gate receipts sufficient to pay all expenses. The poor attendance and the dark, dismal day with a biting wind that nipped the thinly-clad contestants, all had their effect upon the meeting, but the officers of the association had everything nicely mapped out and the program was finished with as much care as if the stands had been filled.

Another year will show that the association can be made successful, as the men in charge are hard workers and the manner in which the first meet was conducted indicates that those to follow will be on a plane that will command attention. The results are as follows:

FRIARS TAKE ON FAST A. A. SQUAD

Wabash Champions Booked Fort Wayne During Foot Ball Season.

PLAYERS IN WORKOUT

That the Friar football eleven is not looking for soft marks for the coming season is shown in the announcement by Manager Frank Rinehart that he has booked the fast Wabash A. A. squad for November 7, and expects it to be one of the best attractions.

This booking and the one at Corby Hall for Thanksgiving are looked upon as the star numbers of the fall program, and clubs picked from the best material in the independent field will fill out the schedule.

Owing to illness in the Schroeder family the club did not go to the farm south of the city for practice yesterday, as had been intended, but took hard drills at Swinney park in which there were some real scrimmages that gave Coach Laird a chance to look over his material and get a line on the men he will eventually select for his club.

Morning and afternoon found the men who are trying to make the club out ready for work and with Charley Pask directing one club and Coach Laird the other the best practices of the year was had. The men are ambitious and prospects are good for the best club that has ever represented the Friars.

MAGNOLIAS HOPE TO TAKE SECOND

Are Not Discouraged and Will Fight Shamrocks All the Way.

DROPPED FIRST CLASH

Manager Al Luley and his troupe of Magnolia baseballists are not discouraged over the first defeat in the city series and they are preparing to come back strong at the Shamrocks in the second event and all still believe they can whip Mart Cleary and his band of independents.

The second game will be the hard-fought battle of the series as the Magnolias will be eliminated unless they win it and they do not want to lose two in a row, as they are out after the championship of Fort Wayne and think they are able to win the title.

A little more experience might have helped them in the opener. They made a fierce attack upon Joe Cochoit after the first inning and in spite of the fact that the Shamrocks had a lead of four runs they drove the Pennsylvania phenom from the mound and went ahead one tally. Then Mart Cleary chucked his old reliable left-hander into the fray and he held the Magnolias to the finish, while his pards hopped on Cashdollar and hammered him unmercifully.

That a city series is desired by the patrons was shown by the attendance. The weather was of a football variety but inspite of that there was a big turnout and both teams had plenty of friends in the stands. Although the Shamrocks had a big victory in the first game Manager Cleary and all his players realize that they have a pretty tough proposition in the Magnolias. The club did not play up to its usual form in the opener but showed enough strength to indicate that it is likely to break loose at any time and give any semi-pro team a big battle.

The score:

										R.	H.	E.
Magnolias	0	1	1	2	1	0	0	0	0	5	8	4
Shamrocks	0	4	0	0	0	0	5	4	0	13	14	2

Batteries—Cashdollar and Hines; Cochoit, Robbins and Hofer.

DAMEREL A GOOD PICKER.

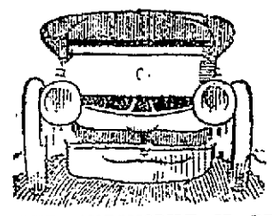
Portland, Ore., Sept. 30.—George Damerel, the well-known singer and actor, protege of Perry Worden, when baseball was played long ago, who was here this week at a local theater, is today $2,500 richer by the victory of the Red Sox in the American league.

For the last two seasons Demerel has picked the winner of the world's baseball championship series. Last season he won $5,000 in different bets.

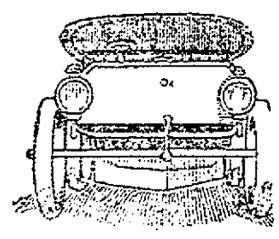
EVOLUTION.

CAN IT BE POSSIBLE,

AS SOME EUROPEAN SCIENTISTS MAINTAIN,



THAT THE AUTOMOBILE IS DESCENDED



FROM A GERMAN BUTLER?

PUBLICITY HURT O'TOOLE'S WORK

Too Much Expected of Him and He Was Hammered When Beaten.

WILL HAVE TROUBLES

David Davies, sport writer on the Pittsburg Dispatch, is authority for the statement that too much publicity has hurt Marty O'Toole and he would have been more valuable if less had been expected of him. He says:

"O'Toole is a great pitcher. The writer has implicit faith in his ability to make good. He has been under the handicap of too much publicity—too much notoriety—this season, and until the fans have ceased to expect what cannot be, Marty is going to have his troubles.

"We would cite the case of Rube Marquard, the 'eleven-thousand-dollar lemon,' who made John McGraw's life a burden during a couple of seasons. But there is no need going outside the Pittsburg club for a parallel; take the experience of Charley Adams for instance.

"Adams was the hero of the 1909 world's series. His jump into fame was meteor-like from being an obscure sub on the Pittsburg staff he became, overnight, the most famous pitcher in the business. He was pictured and caricatured everywhere where baseball is known. He was made the subject of a moving picture stunt; he was followed by little boys and big boys every time he was recognized on the streets. In short, he became famous and had to pay the price.

"How did Adams fare during the 1910 season? Was he a success? Did his work fulfill your expectations, Brother Fan, or mine? It did not; 'Babe was so nervous and worked up that he was almost an utter failure during the first half of the season. Every game in which he appeared was expected to be a no-hit affair. Whenever Adams lost a session he was panned and repanned; he was branded as a false alarm and as a never-was. And still they kept on expecting the impossible of him.

"After a while Manager Clarke was forced to adopt drastic measures; something had to be done to save the star pitcher from utter wreck.

"Clarke acted; he gave Adams orders not to appear before the fans while the team was at home—not even during preliminary practice. Arrangements were made whereby the worrying pitcher was to indulge in sufficient work to keep in condition; but he was not to pitch a game on the home grounds during the remainder of the season.

"Adams recovered and towards the end of the season Clarke's rule was broken and the 'Babe' pitched good ball on Forbes field."

COBB WILL DEMAND BIG SUM.

It Is Expected That He Will Ask From $12,000 to $15,000.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 30.—Ty Cobb's 3-year contract with the Detroit club expires this season. Before the Tigers start out in 1913 Tyrus must sign another contract and the new salary figure named by the player will undoubtedly make the most interesting bit of off-season gossip.

The salary the Detroit club is paying to Ty this year and also for the two preceding years is $9,000 a season in real money. To sign a new contract the Georgian, it is said, will demand the largest salary figure ever named by a man in baseball, player or manager. He refuses to say what it will be, but it is reported that he will want between $12,000 and $15,000 to continue his career as a Tiger.

RAY COLLINS SHOULD HELP TO DEFEAT GIANTS IN SERIES.

RAY COLLINS.

In Ray Collins, Boston has one of the greatest left-handed pitchers in the national game.

No less an authority than Hugh Jennings, shrewd leader of the Detroit club, offers this observation for the comfort of the National league fans and the Giants in the world's series.

Jennings compares Collins to Eddie Plank, the veteran southpaw of the Athletics, who stood the Giants upon their heads in the last world's series, with a port-side cross-fire that whistled around their necks like a blue wing teal coming down the wind.

Collins hasn't had much press-agenting, but the records show he has been mighty effective. The Giants have shown they are weak against high-class left-handers this year, and it is reasonable to suppose they will run to form in the world's series.

ESTABLISHES NEW RECORD.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 30.—Bob Burman established a new world record for one mile over a circular dirt track in an automobile yesterday at the new St. Louis fair grounds, driving a 300 horse-power Blitzen Benz car around the track in 47.61 seconds, lowering his own record of 47.67 seconds, made last spring at Brighton Beach in the same machine.

WAIVERS ASKED ON BROWN.

Waivers have been asked by President C. W. Murphy on Mordecai Brown and the veteran pitcher will be retired. He injured one of his legs last July and has been of no service to the team since.

Marty O'Toole held the Cubs to two hits for three bases in the game at Chicago yesterday and the Pirates won, taking second place in the National league championship race.

BUFFALO LODGE HOME.

Plan to Build $200,000 Institution Near Fort Wayne.

The Benevolent Order of Buffaloes is planning to erect a $200,000 supreme home near Fort Wayne within the next two years. This was agreed upon by the supreme officers at a meeting Friday night, after a committee from Cincinnati asked that a home for old and feeble members of the order be built near Cincinnati.

In refusing the request of the Cincinnati men, Mr. Fred Eckart, supreme vice president, said:

"As soon as the Buffalo fund for the newly proposed home for the old and feeble members reaches the $5,000 mark, I will add another $5,000, provided the citizens of Fort Wayne stand ready to raise an equal amount (that is $10,000.) This amount can be raised by either subscription or in any other way seen fit.

To insure the owner of a private sharing cup kept in a barber shop that he is its only user there has been invented a paper cap to cover it, which cannot be removed without breaking a seal.

...SH FOR VOTES WITH HAIR TONIC

Kansas Suffragists Going After BaldHeaded Male Bipeds.

HAVE UNIQUE PLAN

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 30.—The woman who are leading the movement for equal suffrage in Kansas are reaching out for the bald-headed men.

"If we can make hair grow on every bald head in Kansas before the fifth of November we'll win this battle for the ballot and for justice," said Mrs. Lilla Day Monroe, whose home is the headquarters of the Topeka suffragists. "We have figured that if we can get the vote of every baldheaded man in the state, we'll win. You've got to do something substantial for men to interest them in the suffrage cause, and that is especially true of bald-headed men. We've tried every other plan we could think of, and now we are going after them with a promise of hair. Yes, hair! that is the slogan of the Kansas equal suffrage campaign from this day on."

This "hair" campaign centers around a hair tonic which the suffragist leaders have agreed to stand sponsor for. It is recommended by "The Seven Suffragette Sisters, Members of Good Government club, Topeka, Kan." It's name, "Gee, Gee," is the initials of the club's name. The outside wrapper, which shows the back hair of the "Seven Suffragette Sisters," combed loosely down the back, is expected to appeal strongly to bald-headed men. Beneath is a rhyming injunction to "beg, steal or buy a bottle."

The identity of six of the "Seven Suffragette Sisters" probably never will be known. The seventh, Mrs. Monroe ("Mrs. Middlewun") testifies that she used the "Good Government" hair tonic for twenty-five years, and she "does up" her hair in such a way as to impress bald-headed men with the merits of the tonic.

The "Seven Suffragette Sisters" of Topeka want it proclaimed to the world that they can keep a secret. They say the identity of six of the seven who sat for the picture will never be known. Just one man could reveal their names, and that man is the photographer. He locked his outer door during the sitting. And he was sworn to secrecy. Four are married women and two are prominent in the young people's social set.

"We had quite a time of it in the photographer's studio," said Mrs. Monroe. "The artist wanted to turn the women's heads so as to get a glimpse of their facial outline, but they would not stand for it. It was a strenuous three hours getting all that hair down, sitting for the picture and then getting it up again. Search Kansas far and wide and you cannot find six more beautiful heads of hair than those shown in the picture of the 'Seven Suffragette Sisters' of Topeka."

The cellar under the Monroe home, facing Capitol square, is the private meeting place of the "Seven Suffragette Sisters." There they mix and compound the hair tonic. No man, not even Judge Monroe, head of the household, is permitted to penetrate its mysteries.

"If we should spill any of the tonic on the cement floor and start a heavy growth of hair down there I guess we would have to send Mr. Monroe with his lawn mower to cut it," Mrs. Monroe said.

In the main parlor are bushels of pills which the Good Government club is selling at ten cents a dozen. "These capsules are filled with medicine that will be good for all classes of men—bald-headed and otherwise," Mrs. Monroe said.

PERIOD OF STAGNATION.

"How is it you aren't running for congress again this year, judge?"

"Why, my boy, it's an off year in politics."

"Since when is this an off year in politics, judge?"

"Ahem—since I wasn't renominated."

"Next to the corset must be placed the tight shoe in the amount of harm it does girls. They should wear low, square-heeled shoes with wide toes. Compression of the foot into a rigid shoe destroys the natural relation of the parts and interferes with the circulation. It prevents development of the muscles and ligaments and brings on a train of sequences such as bunions, weak ankles and broken arches."

The Trail of the Moose is planning to initiate fifty candidates into the order on next Friday night. The initiation will be made by the degree team of the local lodge and will be held in the Moose lodge rooms, Washington and Clinton street. WOMAN POOH BAH BACK FROM NORTH

Was Teacher, Physician, Surgeon, Minister and Also a Farmer.

HERDED REINDEER

Portland, Ore., Sept. 30.—When she was not teaching young Eskimos and Indians the elementary branches in the English language, Miss Mary Watson, a young school teacher, who returned on board the American ship Berlin from Alaska, where she has passed three years in the government service, occupied her spare time in performing marriage ceremonies, conducting religious services, acting as local superintendent of a reindeer herd, serving as a physician and surgeon, showing the natives all about the science of agriculture, inculcating into their minds the art of scientific cooking, giving them lessons in how to manipulate the needle and performing innumerable other services that would test the mental capacity of a modern Solomon.

And she liked the work. If her mother, Mrs. E. S. Watson, who accompanied her from the far north, did not rule otherwise, the daughter strongly intimated that she would return and take up the work where she left off. Their home is in California, and after enjoying a brief sojourn at Portland they will go to San Diego, where Mrs. Watson declares they will stay for good. However, the daughter insists that she may go back to the northland.

This season Miss Watson taught school and did the rest of the things enumerated at Cholung, a short distance back from the Nshagak river. But the preceding year she was stationed at Sinuk, twenty-six and one-half miles north of Nome. She declares that despite the lower temperatures prevailing there, she prefers that part of the territory. She explains that up that way her pupils were full-blooded natives and they possessed more intelligence than their kinsmen mixed up with various nationalities of the lowest types who dwell along the coast further south.

Occasionally Miss Watson ran a night school and taught the native men and women how to read and write. Many of them are on the payroll of the salmon fishery companies, and they were anxious to be able to read the checks given them on pay day. Some of them proved most apt students.

Against a protest from her mother, Miss Watson asserted that the missionaries in Alaska do more harm than good.

Many of the Eskimos are prospering with their reindeer herds, one of them owning 1,500 of the animals, which feed on the moss in the tundra belts and aside from herding they require no attention. Before they can become full fledged herders the natives have to serve an apprenticeship, at the end of which they receive $50 a month.

RESUME CAR SERVICE.

West Jefferson Through Service Starts Tomorrow Morning.

Beginning tomorrow morning through car service will be resumed over the West Jefferson street line, which will again be paired with Lewis street. Since the recent routing of cars, the Jefferson street branch was operated as a short line.

C. E. Palmer, superintendent of transportation, declares that the Broadway and Belt Line cars cannot take care of all the people going west and south, and after a trial it was decided to resume the old schedule on this line.

NATURE'S CORSET CALLED THE BEST

And High Shoes Cause Weak Ankles and Many Bunions.

SAYS THIS EXPERT

Washington, Sept. 30.—A lot of the idiosyncrasies of young girls and budding debutantes, their susceptibility to love affairs and their romantic notions, were explained to several hundred mothers by Dr. Elinora C. Follkmar at the Congress of Hygiene and Demography.

Dr. Follkmar, a staunch lady of middle age, advised the mothers to denude their daughters of pretty shoes and corsets. She condemned especially the brand of corsets which conduce to the "waspish waist."

Of the activity of the love germ in the budding belle, she said:

"The period of passage from girlhood to womanhood is the period of self-consciousness, of early love affairs, of hero worship and devotion to ideals and religious enthusiasm. This is also the period of bad tempers, the use of slang and profane words. During this period girls should not be allowed to wear corsets or high-heeled shoes.

"Corsets and high-heeled shoes were not made for girls under eighteen years. One of the most vexing problems of this period is the corset. Every girl wants to wear one.

"Nature has provided every girl with a corset of bony frame work covered with muscles and ligaments. Tight lacing at Wealthy, Cultured Mrs. Pinchot is Friend of Lawrence Strike Leaders.

MRS. AMOS PINCHOT, WHO "LOOKS THINGS OVER FOR HERSELF."

New York, Sept. 30.—When the train stopped at Lawrence one day last winter during the great textile workers' strike, and a tall, slim young woman, dressed in a plain gray suit and a soft felt hat, got off, the two dozen or more newspaper men gathered about the station said:

"Gee, here's another woman reporter! What are we going to do with 'em all?"

But the tall woman with the reporterish-looking clothes was not "another woman writer" at all; she was Mrs. Amos Pinchot, wife of a New York millionaire. She had left her home near Central park, with its steam heat, its cozy corners and its conservatories, to come down to investigate Lawrence for herself.

This little episode shows the character of Mrs. Amos Pinchot, who has just been made national chairman of the woman's financial committee of the bull moose party. She is the kind of woman who takes no one's word for anything—she gets out and "looks things over for herself," as she puts it.

Up at Lawrence Mrs. Pinchot soon showed that she was in earnest. She was out on the picket line at 5 o'clock every morning with the hardiest of the reporters and the labor organizers, watching proceedings and helping the strikers' cause whenever she could. And after the excitement of mill-opening was over and the picket line had melted away, she would gather with some of the I. W. W. leaders at a little dairy lunch and there, over a cup of hot coffee, she would "talk strike."

"I am particularly anxious to meet Bill Haywood," she told the newspaper women with whom she hobnobbed. "I want to see what he's like. I think I am going to find him very fine."

The newspaper women gasped, because they knew that, through her husband and her brother-in-law, Gifford Pinchot, Mrs. Pinchot was a great friend of Roosevelt. And Roosevelt, they also knew, has branded Haywood as an "undesirable citizen."

But they saw that the introduction took place. And Mrs. Pinchot became one of Haywood's greatest admirers. On the morning that the relief funds were tied up by "meddling outsiders," as they were afterwards called, Mrs. Pinchot pressed into the leader's hand her personal check for $100, with the words, "There is more when it's needed."

For weeks Mrs. Pinchot remained in Lawrence, plowing through the slush and snow on foot, although in her New York garage there were standing four monogramed limousines for her own special use. And every striker, every labor leader, every reporter, came to love her before she went away.

Mrs. Pinchot's home life is perfect. She is devoted to her husband and her two children—Gifford, ten, and Rosamond, eight.

Most of the Pinchot family live on the old James Pinchot estate at Milford, Pa. This contains hundreds of acres, all on the side of a great hill. The house itself is a big stone castle on the very crest and is approached by miles of sloping drives, bordered by shrubs and plants of every description.

And flowers, next to public service, are Mrs. Pinchot's hobby. She has acres of them under her personal cultivation at Milford. Every morning in summer she can be found digging and cutting and pruning while her old gardener stands by asking that she let him do the "hard work."

And even in winter she is not without her flowers, for every day a great box of roses, orchids and heliotropes is shipped to her from the greenhouses at Milford. Some of these, of course, go to the decorating of the Park avenue house, but a great many more of them go with Mrs. Pinchot when her machine starts on its trips to the hospitals and sanitoriums of the east side.

HARRY E. FROST RETURNS HERE

Takes the Newly Created Office of Assistant Yard Master of Wabash.

WOMAN BADLY HURT AT BUCYRUS, OHIO

Mrs. Mary Bohrman Walks on Tracks and is Struck by Train.

Harry E. Frost will assume the duties of assistant yard master at Fort Wayne for the Wabash tomorrow. This is a newly created office made necessary by the increasing business and the manner in which it has to be handled at present, the yards being in two sections, one east and the other west. Charles F. Malcolm, the yardmaster, has been doing the work alone and the appointment of an assistant is made at his request. Harry Frost is well known in railway circles in Fort Wayne. He was employed here several years by the Wabash, his latter service being in the capacity of yard clerk. Six years ago he went to Huntington, where he was connected with the Eyre-Shoemaker Construction company until last Saturday. He will bring his family here to reside as soon as he can find a suitable house for housekeeping.

WALKED IN FRONT OF TRAIN.

Mrs. Mary Bohrman Loses Her Life at Bucyrus.

The second section of westbound Pennsylvania fast train, No. 21, struck and killed Mrs. Mary Bohrman near the station in Bucyrus at 9:20 o'clock yesterday morning. Eastbound train No. 6 was standing at the station at the time of the accident and in her haste to get over the tracks, Mrs. Bohrman, who was on the south side, walked around the front end of the train, a short distance east of the crossing, and reached the westbound track just in time to be struck by the engine which was pulling No. 21. The woman was picked up and hurled a considerable distance and so badly injured that she died ten minutes later. Mrs. Bohrman was a widow and surviving her are three grown-up children. She was fifty-eight years old. The train which figured in the accident was in charge of Conductor P. J. Sullivan, with Engineer Ben Thompson at the throttle. No blame is attached to them.

MR. BAER RETURNS HOME.

Albert Baer, the engineer who put a bandit out of commission by hitting him on the head with a brass torch after the fellow had collected a lot of money from the passengers on a Louisville and Nashville train, near New Orleans, left today for his home, after visiting his son and daughter in this city. Mr. Baer's story of the encounter with the bandit is as follows:

"The bandit boarded the train at New Orleans, and shortly after we had left the city limits, he climbed on the engine and covered my fireman and myself. He had automobile goggles on, and his face was covered with a handkerchief. He commanded me to stop at the eleven-mile post, and I pleaded innocence, saying that I did not know where it was. When we reached there he had me stop the train, and he alighted, still keeping us covered with his two automatics, and got some dynamite that he had left there. Then he boarded the engine and had me run up about a mile, where he again ordered me to stop.

"Leaving the two of us, my fireman and myself, in the engine, he went to the mail car, and then started through the passenger coaches. He had the negro porter collect all the money from the passengers, while he kept them covered. After he had gotten the money he ordered the porter to walk back to the cab of the engine, keeping him covered all the time, and then he ordered me to run ahead.

"It was then I first conceived my plan of beating him at his own game, and while I was running ahead, with him back of me, keeping the fireman, porter and myself covered, I wrote a message on some order blanks, and dropped it at one of the small stations as we went past. The message told them to have officers at Michaud. Then, when he was still covering me, I hit him across the head with my torch, and jumped to one side. As I did he fired, but the bullets went wild. I struck him again, and this blow fractured his skull and knocked him senseless. Then we went ahead to Michaud, where we turned him over to the authorities."

Mr. Baer resided in Fort Wayne a number of years, during which time he was employed as engineer in the freight service on the Nickel Plate.

HARD LUCK WITH LABORERS.

Out of 500 Brought Here, Seventy-five Remained.

"Within the past six or eight months we received just 500 laborers sent from Pittsburg by an employment bureau," said an official connected with the maintenance of way department of a Fort Wayne railway this morning. "There are about seventy-five of those men now in the service, the others quitting after working a short time, some only one day, and taking employment elsewhere or leaving the city. Those who remained are chiefly Greeks," continued this official. Agent Kirkland, of the Pennsylvania, has had better luck. He brought down fifty freight handlers from Chicago last week and forty-nine of them are still working and give promise of remaining so long as their services are needed. Mr. Kirkland expects several more men from the same source tonight.

DOUBLE TRACK IN SERVICE.

Tomorrow the second track between Delray and Romulus, on the Detroit division of the Wabash, fourteen miles long, will be placed in service. This will greatly facilitate the handling of trains over that division, where the movement is greatly impeded.

Freight engine 1892, of the Buffalo division of the Wabash, was turned out of the shops in this city today, after receiving general repairs.

Maurice Steele will spend another week at Lake James. He came home yesterday with the intention of resuming work in the incandescent room at the Electric works, but the attractions at the lake were too strong to be resisted and he returned. He caught a four-pound bass last Friday.

Joseph Banks, a wireman at the Electric works, is on duty again after a week at the lakes.

Herbert L. Reed resumed work as clerk at the Nickel Plate shops and roundhouse this morning. He had been off duty a week engaged in removing a roller top cabinet from the first to the second story of his home on West Main street.

MR. SCHEID IMPROVING.

Peter J. Scheid, foreman of the Pennsylvania car machine shops, expected to resume work there this morning, after being ill two weeks, but on the advice of his physician, he will not report for work until later in the week. Mr. Scheid is greatly improved in health.

AUXILIARY TO ENTERTAIN.

Nickel Plate division, 513, G. I. A. to B. of L. E., will give a pedro party in Nickel Plate division hall, corner Main and Cherry streets, tomorrow afternoon.

HURT IN FALL IN PIT.

After a week's visit with friends in Chicago, F. C. Webber reported for work in the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop this morning.

Tonight W. C. Tegtmeyer and family will go to Rome City to stay three or four days. Mr. Tegtmeyer is a fisherman.

Charles Vaughn, assistant tank shop foreman at the Pennsylvania shops, who had been sick several days, was able to report for duty this morning.

F. C. Keller, a checkman at the Pennsylvania freight house, had one of his feet punctured by a nail Saturday and was compelled to quit work.

A. J. Bobay, a painter in the Pennsylvania shops, has gone to the country to assist his father-in-law in harvesting the corn crop.

J. B. Hooley, of the Pennsylvania, and L. R. Kerchival, of the Lake Shore, have resumed their respective positions in the ticket offices of the respective companies.

Traveling Passenger Agent F. P. Parnin, of the Nickel Plate, had as a guest over Sunday, A. R. Turner, agent at Montpelier for the Lake Erie and Western.

Among the shipments from the Bass Foundry and Machine shops this morning was a car load of wheels on axles to the Marion Steam Shovel company, Marion, Ohio.

Over 200 tickets were sold Saturday night by the Lake Shore and Western to Cincinnati, the occasion being the third excursion of the season to that point over the line.

O. O. Thwing, chief engineer and manager of the Western Gas Construction works, has returned to the city after spending a week looking after some special business in St. Louis.

W. A. Barrett, salesman for the Bass Foundry and Machine company, left this morning for Indianapolis on business for the company. Thence he will go to Cleveland before returning home.

The general foremen from the Wabash shops at Toledo, St. Thomas, Peru, Montpelier, Delray and Tilton will be here next Wednesday to talk over shop matters with Master Mechanic G. W. Smith.

C. M. Menefee has placed on the market a new form of building cement block which has the appearance of cut stone and is equally as durable. This is a recent invention which Mr. Menefee believes will come into general use.

A number of bad order cars are being sent through the city by the Wabash. They were at Decatur, but owing to the immense amount of work in the company's shops there, these cars will be repaired in Toledo.

John Paul Murray resumed the duties of stenographer and clerk to Claim Agents K. L. Sheeler and R. E. Harrington, of the Pennsylvania, this morning. He had been visiting his relatives in Richmond and friends in Chicago for ten days.

George N. Rhoades resumed the work of passenger flagman on the Pennsylvania today. With Mrs. Rhoades he had been visiting his sister in Seattle, Wash., and friends and relatives in other parts of the west, being gone about five weeks.

B. O. Hadsell will leave for Los Angeles, Cal., in a few days to take a position with his brother, C. M. Hadsell, who is in business in that city. Until last Saturday Mr. Hadsell was foreman of the repair department at the General Electric Lamp works.

Mrs. Mary Gibson, of Poe, was removed from St. Joseph hospital Saturday and is now at the home of Machinist W. H. Smith, her son-in-law, where she will remain a week before going to her country home. Mrs. Gibson was operated upon for gallstones.

Frank J. Greer, time clerk in the transportation department of the Pennsylvania, resumed the duties of that office this morning. Mr. and Mrs. Greer returned Saturday from a tour of the lakes, which began at Toronto and ended at Chicago, via Duluth. "It was the most delightful trip we ever made," Mr. Greer said.

Chief Clerk John B. Fowler, of the Pennsylvania storeroom, and his family have returned home, after a two weeks' visit with relatives in Pittsburg. Machinist John Doyler, who with his family had been in Michigan a week, and Machinist Fred Weiner, who had been taking a two weeks' lay off, also resumed work at the shops today.

George Knisely, who was a patient at Hope hospital several weeks, was discharged from that institution Saturday and went to his home in Columbia City. Mr. Knisely expects to resume his travels in the interest of the Harper Buggy company soon. A few years ago he was a member of the Pennsylvania police force, with headquarters in Fort Wayne.

Division Engineer W. S. Danes and Trainmaster C. E. Wells, of the Wabash, were here today making an inspection of the elevation work in progress through the western part of the city. They were accompanied on the inspection by Mr. Hickey, of the Hannan-Hickey Construction company. Mr. Danes said that trains would be running over the elevated tracks the latter part of the week.

L. D. Redding has been in the city for a few days spending a brief period with his family. Mr. Redding is now engaged in campaign work for the Retail Clerks' union at Springfield, Ill. He was for a term the president of the Fort Wayne Federation of Labor, refusing re-election over a year ago because of his work in organizing unions in various parts of the country, which kept him from home a great deal of the time.

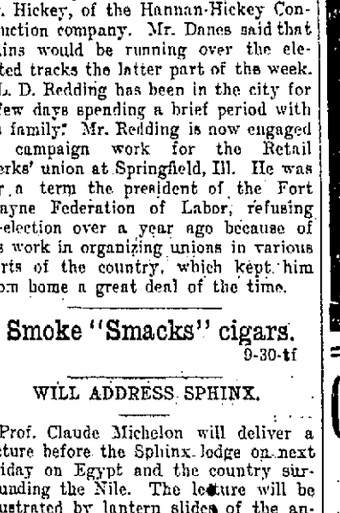
WILL ADDRESS SPHINX.

Prof. Claude Michelon will deliver a lecture before the Sphinx lodge on next Friday on Egypt and the country surrounding the Nile. The lecture will be illustrated by lantern slides of the ancient Sphinx of the old country, upon which the organization is founded. All members of the local lodge, together with their families and friends, are invited to attend the talk, which will be given in the Odd Fellows' building.

The first officers of the Sphinx were installed last Friday night and are as follows: Frank Besse, worthy master; Frank Sherbundy, junior master; Earl Barry, recording secretary; Patrick Malone, treasurer; Sharp Wisner, warden; Clarence Garten, guide; Edward Eigl, worthy lecturer; John H. Nolan, William Spiegel and William Kayser, trustees; John Carroll, guard; James Richardson, sentinel.



That's it, Havana Seal, 5c cigar.

CHINA'S NEW POLITICAL ADVISER HAS BEEN IN ADVENTURES THE WORLD OVER

He Probably Knows More About China and the Chinese Than Any White Man—Has Fought, Explored and Been Wounded in Adventures in Many Lands.

Sketch of Dr. Geo. E. Morrison, Political Adviser of China.

Pekin, China, Sept. 30.—Dr. Geo. E. Morrison, war correspondent, explorer and a man who has a remarkable record for travel and adventure, is going to be "political advisor to the president" of China.

His life of adventure began when he was but 18 years old. His father was the principal of Geelong college, Geelong, Victoria. Dr. Morrison went to school there and thence to Melbourne university. During his vacations he started in on his explorations. He did a walking trip of 650 miles and a canoe trip of more than 1,500 miles. After a couple of years at the university, he had a disagreement with his teachers and shipped as a sailor on a vessel engaged in the kanaka slave trade. He wrote a report of what he saw and this led to a correction of the abuses then going on. Later he went to New Guinea and from there back to Australia in a fishing junk. A notable trip he made at a later date was across Australia on foot, more than 2,000 miles. He did it in 123 days. Later on he went again to New Guinea and while exploring there was attacked by the natives and struck twice by spears. The spear points were not removed until some months afterward.

Following this adventure Dr. Morrison resumed his medical studies, going to Edinburgh. He finished in three years and then went to America in an emigrant vessel. He later looked in on Jamaica and then went back to New York. From there he went to Spain, where he was an assistant medical officer at some copper mines. After a year and a half of this he crossed over to Morocco and became medical advisor to the Shereef of Wazzan. He remained in Morocco for a few months and then returned on a trip through Spain.

From Spain Dr. Morrison back-tracked to Melbourne, qualified and took a position in a hospital. He held it for two years and then took to the road once more. He went to Hongkong and to the Philippines. He visited the coast ports of China and followed that up with an inspection of Japan. From Japan he went back to Shanghai and walked from there to the Burma frontier. This trip resulted in a book. Then the London Times sent him to Siam to investigate conditions there.

When this mission was completed the energetic Morrison was sent to Peking by the Times. This was in 1897 and he has been in Peking ever since. He visited Manchuria and Russian regions to the northward and with great accuracy described Russian intentions. Later he made another trip to Siam and then went to Korea. He was there when the Boxer troubles broke out. He hastened to Peking, where he remained throughout the siege, doing his share of the work with great courage and zeal and receiving a wound from a Boxer bullet.

In 1909 he was presented to the late emperor of China and enjoys the distinction of being one of the two foreign journalists ever presented to his majesty. In 1910 he rode clear across China, going through Kansu and the New Dominion.

He has been over the length and breadth of China many times and no one knows more about China and the Chinese than he. His travels throughout the nation have never been equalled. He has been in every province—in most of them more times than one. He has a good knowledge of the language and understands the people thoroughly. He has made a position for himself in Peking which is pre-eminent, and for several years his influence and power has been as great as that of any minister, and greater than that of many. His home on one of the main arteries of the Tartar City—a broad highway which all foreigners call Morrison street—is a landmark.

It is here that Dr. Morrison keeps his wonderful library, a collection of books, records and charts concerning things Asiatic which is without an equal.

The value of his collection is estimated at $120,000.

Dr. Morrison is about fifty years of age. His frame is sturdy. A heavy growth of grayish hair which covers his head in a rather tumbled mass helps to give him an appearance somewhat out of the ordinary.

GIVES CRIPPLED LEG TO SAVE GIRL

William Rugh, Gary Newsboy, Cheerfully Undergoes Sacrifice.

OTHER INDIANA NEWS

Gary, Ind., Sept. 30.—William Rugh, the crippled Gary newsboy, yesterday parted with his useless leg in order that skin might be obtained to save the life of Miss Ethel Smith, 28 years old, who was burned in a motorcycle accident. Rugh and Miss Smith were placed on adjoining tables in a local hospital. One hundred and fifty square inches of skin was transferred from the boy's useless leg after it was amputated.

Letters protesting against amputating the newsboy's leg were received from all over the country. It developed that Dr. J. A. Craig, the surgeon in charge, was to have been married to Miss Mary Arnold, of Labonon, Pa., but that he hurried back to Gary when the operation became imperative. The wedding will take place shortly.

A second operation will be necessary to complete Miss Smith's cure, as granulation following the grafting of the new skin will leave denuded areas. Her fiance, Chief of Police Martin, of Gary, and several others have volunteered to supply what is needed. Charitable women of Gary plan to equip Rugh with an artificial leg in recognition of his self-sacrifice.

BERRY MEN DENOUNCE HURTY.

Growers' Association Protests Against Being Classed Among "Dirtiest."

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 30.—One hundred members of the Southern Indiana Berry Growers' association, in convention here, adopted resolutions condemning Dr. J. N. Hurty, state health commissioner, for his denunciation of the American farmer as the "dirtiest creature in the world" at the International Congress of Hygiene and Demography at Washington last week.

CLASS OF SIXTY INITIATED.

Ladies' Auxiliary to A. O. H. Holds Big Meeting in Lafayette.

Lafayette, Ind., Sept. 30.—A monster meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of Hibernians was held in Lafayette yesterday and more than 200 members from all parts of the state attended. The Indianapolis delegation of seventy-five members, headed by Mrs. John Arthur, state president, and Mrs. John Taylor, state vice president, arrived here at noon on a special interurban car. The Indianapolis drill team of twenty-six members, in charge of Mrs. Edward Ford, last night gave a drill at Forrester's hall. The Rev. J. M. Bryne delivered the address. This afternoon sixty candidates were initiated into the order, the work being exemplified by the Indianapolis degree team. Following the work a banquet was served at the Bramble hotel. Visitors were here from Logansport, Kokomo, Muncie, Marion and Fort Wayne.

CATCHES ROBBER IN STORE.

Muncie Merchant Calls Police and Thief is Arrested.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 30.—While walking about the place in his stocking feet, Earl Morely, 24 years old, who says his home is in Jamestown, N. Y., was caught at an early hour yesterday morning in the Marion Stewart book store by the owner. Mr. Stewart happened to be passing the store and got a glimpse of a man going toward the cash register. Stewart entered the store and the robber ran upstairs. The police were called and the intruder was found under a table on the second floor. He had gained entrance through a skylight. Before entering the building he removed his coat and shoes and left them upon the roof. Morely said he was out of money and that a sick mother had written him for funds. He is being held in jail.

FAVOR NEW TRACTION LINE.

Delaware Commissioners Will Grant Honey Bee Right of Way.

Muncie, Ind., Sept. 30.—The Delaware county commissioners have signified their intention to grant a right of way to the proposed Newcastle-Muncie Traction company for an extension of the Honey Bee to this city along Walnut street in the outskirts of the city, provided the traction company secures a private right of way through the remainder of the county. Traction officials are now working to secure this right of way and it is said that as soon as this is secured work will be started on the new road.

UNTAMED BULL IN ACTION.

Sharkey, the bad bull which has never been busted, bucking off a rider at the recent California state fair at Sacramento. This is not a posed picture, which accounts for the ungainly position of the man in the air. The bull is charging the camera man who did some active footwork getting out of the way. Sharkey has killed a couple of men. He is kept solely for bronco-busting contests.

16 YEARS IN CELL AS SLAYER, FREE

"This Feels Good" First Words of Man Given Release.

SCENE IS TOUCHING

Philadelphia, Sept. 30.—Alphonso F. Cutaiar, jr., once sentenced to be hanged for the murder of his aunt, Johanna Logue, and for sixteen years an occupant of a cell in "murderers' row" in the eastern penitentiary, stepped through the gate of the prison a free man recently.

"My, this feels good!" were his first words. "Everything looks strange, and I thank God I am free again."

At the gate he was met by a friend and his lawyer, George B. Walker, who were waiting with a cab. He was taken to No. 620 North Forty-sixth street, where he joined his wife, two sons and daughter.

In the presence of a crowd which awaited his arrival there was a touching scene. Mrs. Sarah Cutaiar rushed from the house and threw her arms about her husband as he stepped on the little porch. The crowd cheered when the happy pair, followed by their children, went into the house clasped in each other's arms. Later, in an interview, he reiterated his innocence of the crime for which he served so long.

Cutaiar was convicted of killing his aunt, Johanna Logue. She was the wife of "Jimmy" Logue, a crook. She disappeared on February 22, 1879, and fourteen years later her body was found buried beneath the kitchen floor of the Logue home, at No. 1250 North Eleventh street.

Cutaiar was pardoned by Governor Tener after clemency had been granted by the board of pardons.

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.

HE LOVED HIS PIGS' FEET.

Policeman Wouldn't Stop Eating and Gets on Carpet.

Baltimore, Sept. 30.—Because he refused to arrest a man when ordered to do so Patrolman James J. Lawler, of the southwestern district, will be given a hearing before the police board. Mrs. Rosie Iglehart, of 1142 Sargeant street, is the chief complainant, as the person who gave the order for an arrest. The policeman was enjoying pigs' feet, which he did not leave to make the arrest. Says Mrs. Iglehart in her report: "I was crossing a lot on Cross street when a man, who was eating lunch with a policeman, said to me: 'Hello, baby; can I go with you?' I then asked the policeman to arrest the man and he said: 'You go on home; I'm eating my lunch.'" Charles Hynes, 1221 West Cross street, was enjoying pigs' feet with the policeman. He declares he has known Mrs. Iglehart for twenty years and merely said, "Good evening." Lawler admits that he was sitting down eating pigs' feet with Hynes.

"HEROES ARE NOT ALL ON THE BATTLEFIELD"

JUST A MINER'S STORY OF UNSUNG COURAGE.

By FRED L. BOALT.

Roslyn, Wash., Sept. 30.—You have sat many times before an open fire of coal, and, basking in its grateful warmth, seen visions in its glow. The fitful flames cast queer shadows back into the darkened room. The fire dies. But in the heart of it lies a big charred lump. A single thrust of the poker, and it falls apart. The gas, set free, is set afire. Then how that fire crackles and roars! There is no pleasanter way to spend an evening, especially an autumn evening, when the raindrops splash against the window pane and the wind whines in the eaves.

I met Cusworth on a train. He said: "The heroes are not all on the battlefield. When the miner risks his life, it is not to kill, but to save. Come with me to Roslyn."

So I went on to Roslyn with Ernest Cusworth, miner. And first of all we visited the graveyard on the hillside.

"There," said Cusworth, pointing to a headstone, "lies my old dad. And there lies Joe." He pointed to other graves where lie the clay of men he knew in former years. And they all bore the same date—

May 10, 1892.

We got into the corduroys and mackinaws that miners wear. We fixed lamps to our caps. We climbed a back-breaking hill in a downpour of rain. And finally we came to the pit mouth of No. 6. The lamps were lighted and we went down—down.

ERNEST CUSWORTH.

Save for the sound of water seeping through the earth above and dropping into the mine, it was as still down there as a grave. With head bent to escape the low-hanging roof, Cusworth plunged on, sure footed, past innumerable rooms which turned off to left and right from the slope—deserted rooms from which the coal was gone—darted through dark curtains of canvas designed to divert the air from the air courses, and on—on—endlessly, until we came to the very end, the face where still hung in the wet, cold air the stink of burnt powder.

"Mind you don't tuch the trolley wire," warned Cusworth. "It's sure death."

He crawled into the last room, and finding a seat on an empty car told the story of a hero who was not "decorated" or "honorably mentioned" in dispatches for his daring.

"It was a month before the big explosion that got dad and Joe and forty-four others," he said. "It was about this hour. They were changing shifts in the old No. 1 slope, and dad and Joe and ten others were leaving, when the mine blew up, killing one man.

"The explosion knocked them right and left, and put out their lamps. One was unconscious. One was burned. The rest were bleeding and dazed. They tried to get out, but the explosion had loosened the rock above, and big chunks of it were crashing down, and the cars were smashed and blocked the way, and the ceiling was quaking like jelly.

"They thought the insensible man was dead at first, but he groaned, so they dragged him along. They ran stumbling over mounds of debris. They fell, got up, ran on and fell again. They got twisted as to direction, and butted into walls of coal. In places the slope was so blocked that there was only room for them to crawl through one at a time.

"By and by panic took them, and some of them turned and ran the wrong way. Why? The black damp was coming. They knew it was coming. It rolls, invisible, as fast as a man can run, and it chokes, smothers, strikes down before you can taken a dozen steps.

"Then, way off, they saw a light bobbing up and down. It was John Heathcott coming from the pit mouth. The force of the explosion had blown his cap off. He thought he heard voices; then silence. Back he went, sixty feet in the dark, to the tool box, where he got a safety lamp.

"With it burning on his cap, he came down to them. It was a race. Do you see it? It was a race between John Heathcott and the black damp, and the goal was twelve hurt, dazed and lost men.

"Do you know what Heathcott's chances were of getting out of the mine alive? Not one in twenty. He had good reason to believe every man in the mine was dead and that the black damp had passed over them. You cannot see the black damp. Every step he took might carry him into it. It would have dropped him in his tracks as the sledge hammer drops the beef. Yet he went on, running hard.

"The sight of his lamp gave the men the needed sense of direction, and they raced to meet it, dragging after them the unconscious man and the man who was burned.

"It was a good half mile to the pit mouth. They reached it just in time. When the light of day showed, the last man reeled. The black damp was on him. But the good air of the out-of-doors came down to him and he lived. The rescued shook hands with Heathcott, and then went down the hill to their homes.

"The explosion was briefly noted in the newspapers. One man killed is not much of a story. Heathcott's heroism was not mentioned. It would have bothered him if it had been. It was part of the day's work."

Melbourne, where the "free lunch" has flourished for many years, is the scene of a revolt against that popular institution. The rebels are not the free lunchers, but the hotel keepers, whose custom compels to provide the gratuitous midday feasts for everybody who buys a 5-cent glass of beer. Melbourne restaurants recently raised the price of meals and the consequence is a ruinous rush to the free counter lunches in the hotels.

DON'T PULL OUT THE GRAY HAIRS

A Few Applications of a Simple Remedy Will Bring Back the Natural Color.

"Pull out one gray hair and a dozen will take its place" is an old saying, which is, to a great extent, true, if no steps are taken to stop the cause. When gray hairs appear it is a sign that Nature needs assistance. It is Nature's call for help. Gray hair, dull, lifeless hair, or hair that is falling out, is not necessarily a sign of advancing age, for there are thousands of elderly people with perfect heads of hair without a single streak of gray.

When gray hairs come, or when the hair seems to be lifeless or dead, some good, reliable hair-restoring treatment should be resorted to at once. Specialists say that one of the best preparations to use is the old-fashioned "sage tea" which our grandparents used. The best preparation of this kind is Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, a preparation of domestic sage and sulphur, scientifically compounded with later discovered hair tonics and stimulants, the whole mixture being carefully balanced and tested by experts.

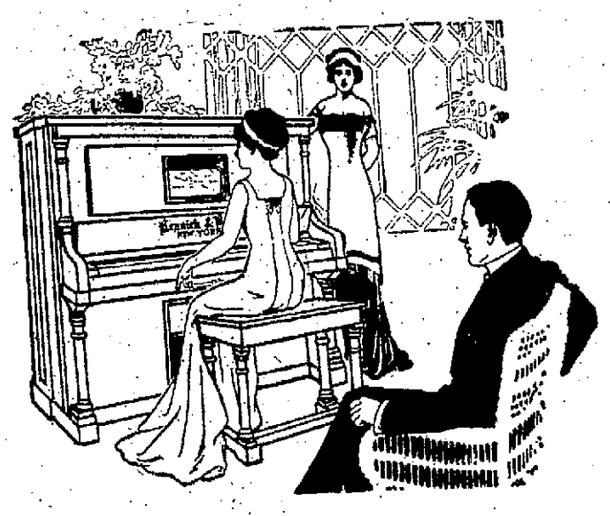
Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It refreshes dry, parched hair, removes dandruff and gradually restores faded or gray hair to its natural color.

Don't delay another minute. Start using Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur at once and see what a difference a few days' treatment will make in your hair.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Meyer Bros. Co., Four Drug Stores.

JACOBS

The Player and Piano Center of Ft. Wayne



UNEQUALED OFFERING OF PLAYER-PIANOS

The explanation of Jacobs' leadership in player-piano selling is found in the fact that here the person interested in player-pianos can make exhaustive tests and side by side comparison of the leading players and pianos of the day equipped with all the successful types of interior player actions.

The Unmatchable Line of Player-Pianos Includes

Apollo Player — Behning Player — Kranich & Bach Player — A. B. Chase Player — Krakauer Player — Shoninger Player — Bogart Player

Schaeffer Player — Laffarque Player — Baus Player — Doll Player — Cecilian Player — Ludwig Player — Universal Player

We can advise impartially about player-pianos—can freely answer all questions about the different makes—because we are not committed to any particular make. At Jacobs' it is for the purchaser himself—or herself—to make the fullest comparison and decide the question of desirability.

By all means visit the Jacobs Music House. A comparison of the Jacobs' line—unrivaled in any store in the state—will most likely reveal just the right combination of the piano and interior player action. Visitors are cordially welcomed and incur no obligation to buy.

Convenient monthly payments may be arranged and liberal allowance is made for used pianos in exchange.

THIEF RETURNS WEDDING RING

Bit of Jewelry, Missing Twelve Years, Comes Back by Mail.

NOTICE BY 'PHONE

Chicago, Sept. 30.— A parcel carefully wrapped and scarcely large enough to bear the name and address was delivered by special carrier to W. F. Huntington at 645 Woodlawn avenue. Mr. Huntington turned the parcel over to his wife, who opened it and was rejoiced to discover her wedding ring, which had been lost for a dozen years.

Mrs. Huntington had returned the ring to her husband after it became too large for her. He missed it one day after washing his hands at the Illinois Central freight office, where he is employed. He searched and made many inquiries, but found no trace of it.

Some one telephoned Mr. Huntington at his house a day or so ago. He called Mrs. E. W. Bosworth, his daughter, to speak for him.

"Did Mr. Huntington lose a wedding ring some time ago?" asked a man's voice.

"Why, yes," replied Mrs. Bosworth, "but it was ever and ever so long ago——"

"O, yes, yes, I know that. It was twelve years ago," the voice replied.

"Perhaps. Why do you ask?"

"Well, I've got the ring, and I am going to return it. I used to work at the Illinois Central, where he lost it. I found it, but have not since been in town so I could return it. You will get it by special delivery mail at once——"

"You what? Who are you? What do you mean? Hello! Hello!"

"Number, please," broke in central.

When the parcel arrived there was great rejoicing. Mrs. Huntington was taken seriously ill a few weeks ago. During the last few days her husband had been greatly depressed, and it is believed the person who had the ring discovered the circumstances and felt conscience-stricken.

The address on the little parcel was printed in a cramped hand, as though an attempt had been made to disguise its owner.

Boils, Rashes, Pimples, Etc.

When the blood becomes infected with any unhealthy humor the effect is shown by boils, pimples, and rashes or eruptions on the skin. Humors get into the blood usually because of an inactive condition of the eliminative members. Remove these humors and no skin trouble can exist, because its very source is then destroyed. Boils, rashes, pimples, etc. can never be cured through the application of external medicines, the most to be obtained from such measures is temporary relief. S.S.S. CURES all skin affections because it purifies the blood. It goes down into the circulation and cleanses it of every particle of unhealthy matter. Then the blood supplies nourishment to the cuticle instead of irritating it with a fiery humor. If you have any skin trouble you could not do better than purify your blood with S. S. S. It does not "patch up;" it cures. Book on Skin Diseases and any medical advice free to all write and request same.

Don't Keep On Fooling With a Poor Saw!

You threw your money away when you bought it, but don't waste your life trying to make it work. A new one won't cost much. And if you buy the right kind, it will make wood cutting easier than you ever thought it could be.

Atkins Wood Saws

Go through the wood in a jiffy, with little effort. The blade is tapered and does not stick or "buckle" in the wood. Made of high-grade steel, and holds its keen cutting edge longer than any other. Costs no more than a poor saw. Try an Atkins—be sure our name is on the blade. If it disappoints you, take it right back to the dealer.

Quiet, Unassuming Chap is McLoughlin, Champion Tennis Player of the World.

Poor Men's Son Who Is King of Racquet Wielders, Says Tennis Experts Are Born—"Practice Merely Perfects You," He Declares.

M'LOUGHLIN IN ACTION.

Maurice E. McLaughlin, the son of a workingman, recently won the national championship in a game supposed to be exclusively for the "idle rich"—tennis.

So far as is known McLaughlin is the youngest tennis champion this country has ever had. He is 22 years old and has been playing the game for eight years, but never thought he had a chance for the championship until about four years ago. Since then he has plugged for it persistently and the title fell to him at the recent national tournament at Newport, when he defeated Wallace F. Johnson.

McLoughlin won every match he entered. He took the western championship, the New York state championship, the national championship and the Longworth challenge cup. In addition, he and Bundy won the national title in doubles, the New York state and the Southampton doubles. These tournaments are the most important held in America.

Personally, McLoughlin is quiet, modest and red-headed. His father is an employe in the United States mint at San Francisco, and on week days the champion tennis player works in a real estate office. Tennis is only his recreation.

Although he "hobnobs" with wealth, it has not made him "snobbish." He doesn't smoke cigarettes, drink cocktails and try to impress you with his importance. He never forces the fact upon you that he is "champ;" he is more apt to tell you about the "strokes" and "drives" and "volleys" of some other player than to discuss his own feats, and his praise of others is sincere.

"Good tennis players are born," says McLoughlin. "It might be called a talent. Improvement comes to any player with practice, but unless he has born ability he will never become a really great player.

"It is impossible to lay down any set of rules to govern a player's method, because no two players have the same system. A man's stroke expresses his individuality. By constant practice each stroke is improved until the proper technic is acquired. And each stroke is put into practice instinctively in the various plays in the game.

"Speed, accuracy and endurance are important factors in the game, but the biggest thing is anticipating the play of your opponent. Know where he is going to 'put' the ball even before he hits it. This is instinct, intuition or whatever you want to call it. It is the thing that is born in a tennis player which practice has improved to such a point that the muscles respond to it automatically without thought.

"It is absolutely necessary for a tennis player to 'keep his head.' Inability to do this has spoiled the championship prospects of many a good player. Loss of temper is the most common example of loss of self-control. This should be avoided at any cost, because it debases the man and degrades the cleanest sport on the face of the earth—tennis."

OPENS WARFARE ON WHITE PLAGUE

Connecticut Takes Up Systematic Work in the Factories.

CARDS ARE POSTED

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 30.—The state's crusade against the white plague is being effectively aided by the factory inspector's office, which is sending out cards prepared by the state tuberculosis commission for distribution in factories. They are printed in Yiddish, Swedish, Bohemian, Hungarian, Slavonian, Italian, French, Lithuanian and English.

In a letter accompanying the cards Factory Inspector George L. McLean writes:

"It is suggested that you have these cards posted together in a conspicuous place in your factory and when they have been read by the employes if other copies are wanted additional copies will be mailed at your request in any of these languages in such number as you desire."

The cards bear these warnings and instructions:

"Pulmonary tuberculosis, or consumption, is communicable, preventable and curable. Take this card home, read it carefully and show it to your family, friends and neighbors.

"Pulmonary tuberculosis, or consumption, is a disease of the lungs. It is taken from other people who have it, and is not simply caused by a cold, although a cold may make it easier to take the disease.

"The matter coughed up and sneezed out by people who have the disease is full of living germs, or tubercle bacilli, too small to be seen. These germs are the cause of tuberculosis, and when they are breathed into the lungs of weakened and debilitated people they set up the disease.

"Don't get tuberculosis yourself. Keep as well as possible, for the healthier your body, the harder for the germs of tuberculosis to grow therein.

"To keep healthy, observe the following rules:

"Don't live, study or sleep in rooms where there is not fresh air. Fresh air and sunlight kill the tubercle bacilli and germs causing other diseases. Therefore have as much of both in your room as possible.

"Don't live in dusty air. Keep your rooms clean. Get rid of dust by cleaning with damp cloths and mops. Don't sweep with a dry broom.

"Keep at least one window open in your bedroom at night and air the room two or three hours a day.

"Don't eat with soiled hands; wash them first.

"Don't put your hands, pencils, or any candy or chewing gum that other persons have used in your mouth.

"Don't keep soiled handkerchiefs in your pockets.

"Take a warm bath with soap at least once a week.

"Don't neglect a cold or a cough, but go to a doctor or a dispensary.

"If you or any one in your family should have tuberculosis you must obey the following rules if you wish to get well:

"Don't waste your money on patent medicines, but go to a doctor or a dispensary. If you go in time you can be cured; if you wait it may be too late.

"Don't drink whisky or other forms of liquor.

"Don't sleep in the same bed with any one else, and if possible not in the same room.

"Good food, fresh air and rest are the best cures. Keep out in the fresh air and in the sunlight as much as possible.

"Keep your windows open winter and summer, day and night. If properly wrapped up you will not take cold.

"Go to a sanitarium if you can and before it is too late.

"A person who has pulmonary tuberculosis, or consumption, is not dangerous to those with whom he lives and works if he is careful and clean.

"Don't give tuberculosis to others. Many grown people and children have pulmonary tuberculosis without knowing it, and can give it to others. Therefore, every person, even if healthy, should observe the following rules:

"Don't swallow your expectoration, but don't spit on the sidewalks, playgrounds or on the floors or hallways of your home or school. It spreads disease, is dangerous, indecent and against the law. When you must spit, spit into the gutters or into a spittoon half filled with water. Don't cough or sneeze without holding a handkerchief or your hand over your mouth or nose."

Millions of Americans have stood on the shores of the Niagara River, or on the deck of the little "Maid of the Mist," and looked up at the greatest falls in the world, and, awed and spellbound by the sublime handiwork of the Almighty, marvelled at the magnitude of the force of the mighty waters which hurled themselves over the great precipice, on the dividing line between the United States and Canada, into the boiling, seething, foaming vortex of waters and rocky crags 164 feet below. Man has now turned this gigantic waste of energy and power into the blue current of Electricity, and for many miles roundabout, cities are made almost light as day, and the wheels of industry are made to whirr by the harnessed power of Niagara, which now silently and faithfully does the bidding of mankind. The Washington Crisps Mills, at Buffalo, are run by the power of Niagara. The big package of Washington Crisps is, likewise, the greatest thing of its kind in the world—a mighty force for strength and health throughout the United States.

HAS FICHT WITH A SEA MONSTER

Scene Evokes Thrills of Horror, But Otto is Triumphant.

LION OF THE MOMENT

New York Sept. 30.—Otto Frank, a photographer of Arverne, L. I., is happy today. In fact, he is bubbling over with mirth, for has he not played his annual practical joke, and didn't it turn out better than he expected? He has and it did.

Yesterday twenty or more leftovers of the season colony at Arverne saw Otto struggling in the surf with what they thought was the well known sea monster that visits seashore resorts in turn every summer. Otto seemed to be battling for his life. His shrieks of despair made the onlookers' blood turn as cold as the water.

Suddenly a huge tail swished through the waves with knifelike strokes and Otto disappeared beneath the surface. Children screamed, women fainted, and strong men turned their faces toward the nearest cafe. But Otto bobbed up again fighting like a demon. No, no: not lemon; demon is correct. Again he sank. More children, women and strong men repeated their actions of a few seconds previous.

His friends began to think of a suitable epitaph. One man was about to telephone the order for the tombstone when Otto reappeared, holding the monster in his arms. He had crushed it to death with his marvelous strength.

Children stopped screaming, the women recovered from their swoons, and the men came back through the swinging doors. All gathered around to examine Otto and the monster. Walter Moore, the druggist, took one look and went back to his prescriptions. The rest followed.

Want to know what it was? You're as bad as the others. Well, if you must know, it was an alligator, but the darned thing was stuffed!

Otto got it last year in Florida. Yesterday he anchored it in the water and had it "attack" him by pulling it toward him with a rope.

Few, if any, medicines, have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation. For sale by all dealers.

HELD UNDESIRABLE CITIZEN.

Rich Texan Barred From United States for Alleged Opium Smuggling.

San Diego, Cal., Sept. 30.—William R. Conditt, a native of Texas, now a citizen of Mexico, and regarded as a wealthy man of Ensenada, Lower California, is denied admission to the United States on the ground that he is undesirable and liable to become a public charge. The real reason for Conditt's exclusion is said to be his friendship for men whose alleged connection with a Chinese coolie and opium smuggling ring was revealed through recent arrests in California.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

SHE RENOUNCES SOCIAL LIFE.

Miss Whipple, of Boston, Is Now Training "Little Mothers."

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—Miss Dorothy Whipple, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman L. Whipple, has renounced the social life to instruct poor young girls in the art of housekeeping. Each week Miss Whipple invites ten girls to her home, in Clintonville, where they are housed in a cottage on her father's estate. After getting the girls to the cottage the hostess is with the mevery possible minute. She eats two meals out of three daily with her guests, cooks with them, helps make up the beds and drives, motors, swims and does the marketing with them. Miss Whipple has the housekeeper to aid her in running the cottage and to show the girls how things should be done. Miss Whipple says she is not interested in social life. She prefers to have her sister do the entertaining. Her one enjoyment is to be among the children whom she can teach.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

"He Who Dances Must Pay the Fiddler," Answer of Embezzler Who Stole $30,000 to Follow Primose Path

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 30.—Fred Van Meter, cashier and bookkeeper for an insurance company, danced, and now he must pay the fiddler for $30,000 worth of gay life with the money he stole from his employers.

For nine years he stole systematically, staving off discovery by clever manipulations of the books. Then one day the traveling auditor of the company walked in unexpectedly. Van Meter looked at him an instant, thought he was discovered, and dropping his head on his books, screamed:

"My God, I am caught at last."

They took him away to prison a confessed embezzler. He had begun to pay the price.

Happy Home—Night Lures.

He had a tranquil, happy home life with the love of a good woman and two beautiful children lavished upon him.

But night after night he would steal away from this clean happines to the glitter and tinsel of the cafe life, spending the stolen money for the companionship that must be bought with gold.

The young wife, mother of his children who until his arrest had known only the decent, Jekyll side of her husband's dual nature, says he was a good husband, tender and considerate.

The companions who sold him their flattery say he was a "good fellow," free with his money and gay with an unusual abandon.

For Nine Years.

For over nine years Van Meter gambled with discovery and sure disgrace staking against it the happiness of his wife and children.

Knew He Must Pay.

"I have known that this day of reckoning was coming ever since I started on the wrong road nine years ago," he says frankly. "I have been expecting it every day and night and have marveled that it was so long deferred. Not the arrest for the embezzlement—that's but a small part of my crime and the price I will pay for my transgressions.

"The knowledge that I have shattered the faith and trust of a good woman—my wife—is the hardest part.

"If the money were all, I would today be almost a happy man. It is such a relief to get the thing off my shoulders. But I have unloaded the care, the despondency and the hopelessness on other and innocent shoulders—just as a man always makes a woman pay for his sins, dragging her with him to the punishment.

Paid the Price.

"I told her all about this the day before I was arrested. She who has always had such implicit faith in me. It was during that recital, when I saw her flinch and quiver with the shock—when I killed the thing I loved, as Wilde says—that I paid the price. The law's punishment will be nothing compared to that.

FRED VAN METER.

A Ceaseless Hell.

"I don't know why men like me sell all that's worth while for the glitter and tinsel of a 'good time.' Whatever the consideration, you may be sure that the thing for which it is done quickly becomes a terrible incubus, eating out the good in a man and at the same time torturing him with ceaseless hell, no matter how blithe he may appear.

Craved Gay Life.

"My story is just like thousands that happen day after day. The newspaper files carry at least one such every twenty-four hours.

"My home life has always been tranquil and fine. I have always loved my wife and children dearly, strange as that may seem to you. But always there was something insistent in me that compelled me to go out and buy the company that dances through the streets of the night life that craves joy rides.

Who Dances Must Pay.

"That's what men call a 'good time.' They call it that in an attempt to delude themselves, putting the thin froth of a name over bitter dregs of reality. But he who dances must pay the fiddler, no matter how long he may be able to stand him off, and the longer the payment is deferred the more terrible is the exaction of compound interest."

FOUR ARE SLAIN AS THEY SLEEP

Frightful Murder Revealed in Ruins of Home Near Quincy, Ill.

FIRE TO HIDE CRIME

Quincy, Ill., Sept. 30.—It is believed that Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pfandschmidt, their 16-year-old daughter, Blanche, and Miss Emma Kaempen, 21 years old, a teacher, whose charred bodies were found yesterday in the ruins of Pfandschmidt's country home near Payson, sixteen miles southeast of Quincy, were murdered.

Circumstances indicate that the victims perished while asleep. One thing that led the state's attorney to investigate is the fact that the only stove on the premises was not in the residence but in a small frame structure adjoining the main dwelling.

Pfandschmidt was wealthy. Miss Kaempen was a daughter of a Quincy contractor. Developments indicate that all four were murdered and that the home was set on fire to hide the crime.

While the bodies of the victims were charred almost beyond recognition, the head of Miss Kaempen was preserved. At the top of the skull was a fearful wound, evidently made with a club. She and and Mrs. Pfandschmidt were found partly under a mattress, which had to some extent protected their bodies from the flames. A pillow on which Miss Kaempen had been lying was not burned. It was soaked with blood. Miss Pfandschmidt's face was badly burned but the back of her head was not touched by the fire. It bore a gash several inches across. The bodies of the two older persons had been burned too badly to indicate the nature of their death.

The murders recall the slaying not long ago of the Moore family of six and two young women guests, near Villisca, Ia., under circumstances similar to the present tragedy and the police are seeking to discover if there is a connection between the two cases. The slayers of the Moores was never caught, and, as in the Quincy killings, no clue as to motive or the identity of the slayer has been discovered.

JAMES A PURVIANCE IS DEAD.

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 30.—James A. Purviance died in this city at noon Sunday, after an illness extending over a period of twelve months. He was 70 years old. For many years Mr. Purviance was associated with the Kenower brothers in the hardware and farmers' implement business in Huntington and spent nearly his entire life in that city. He came to Auburn to reside with his daughter four years ago. Surviving relatives include the widow and four children, Miss Rena Purviance and Mrs. Roy Haley, of Auburn; D. E. Purviance, of Lagro, and Joseph Purviance, of Huntington. Funeral services will be held at Auburn at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and interment will be in the cemetery at Andrews at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

Torpedoes Guided by Aircraft.

A patent has been issued to Bradley A. Fiske, United States navy, for a device that guides submarine torpedoes from an aircraft. The torpedo is the first transported through the air to a point of desired proximity to a target by means of an aircraft, after which the propelling mechanism of the torpedo is started and then the torpedo is released to fall by gravity to the water. In the apparatus, a strap is employed for retaining the torpedo below the aircraft and a manually controlled lever releases a latch for the strap the lever also actuating transmitting mechanism to operate the starting device for the propelling mechanism of the torpedo.

Aerial Taxicab Is Tested.

Some remarkable flights have been made by the aerial taxicab built by Bleriot for a European firm. A 140 horse power engine has been installed in place of the 100 horse power motor with which the machine was originally equipped. Loaded with about 650 pounds of ballast, it carries a cargo equivalent in weight to that of four passengers besides the pilot. As yet no four passengers have ventured to take their seats in the taxicab body.

DECATUR CARS OUT.

Traffic over the Decatur interurban line was delayed during the morning, and only one car left Fort Wayne. It is expected that another car will be operated out of the city late this afternoon.

An automobile owned by William Kanning, the mail carrier, was badly damaged Sunday morning when it was struck by a Spy Run avenue street car at the corner of Riverside and Spy Run avenues. Nobody was injured.

"AND GOD CREATED LIFE"—NOW MAN SAYS HE CAN, ALSO.

Correspondent Shepherd Tells About the Remarkable Scientist, Schafer, of Edinburg, Scotland, and Explains His More Remarkable Ideas on Producing Life by Chemical Action—He Astonishes Europe and Vexes Religious People.

(By William G. Shepherd.)

Edinburgh, Scotland, Sept. 30.—In the days when the world was new and still and when not a thing moved, except falling water or stones, what was the first thing that lived? How did it come to live? What does being alive mean?

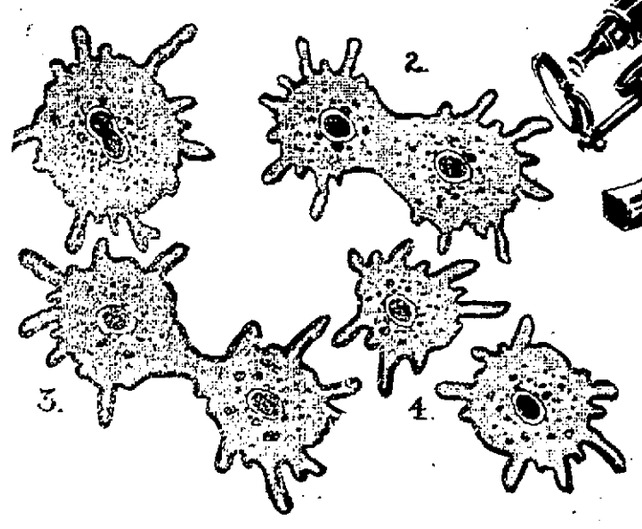
Prof. Edward Albert Schafer, of Edinburgh university, who is called the foremost biologist of Great Britain, is trying to answer these questions.

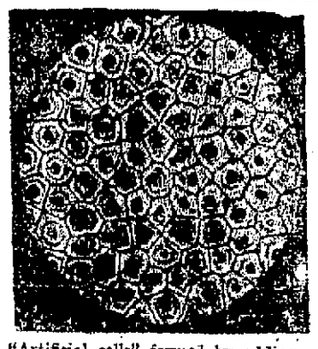
He thinks life is chemical action. For instance, if you put a spoonful of baking soda into a spoonful of vinegar, you get a fizzing action between the chemicals in the soda and the chemicals in the vinegar. Life, he thinks, is some such action.

"The elements composing living substance are few in number," he says. Carbon, hydrogen, oxygen, nitrogen, chloride of sodium, salts of calcium, magnesium, potassium and iron, with water, approximately make up the silt.

He thinks every scientist who can mix these chemicals in the right proportions and under proper conditions is very likely to produce life.

"The dividing line between animate and inanimate matter is less sharp than it has hitherto been regarded," Prof Schafer says. "The possibility of the production of living material is not so remote as has been generally supposed."





"Artificial cells" formed by adding 10 per cent. solution of potassium ferrocyanide to a 10 per cent. gelatine solution.

There are plenty of scientists who think that the first life on earth came from a chemical action, but they believe that this happened at a particular time in the earth's history when conditions were exactly right, and that such conditions do not exist now and will never again exist.

Prof. Schafer, however, believes that even now, in out of the way corners, inanimate matter is being transformed by nature into animate things and that, if the scientists will search properly, they will find this process in operation.

"The evolution of non-living matter into living substance has happened more than once," he said, "and we can by no means be sure that it is not happening now. When or where such change may first have occurred and when and where it may still be occurring are problems as difficult as they are interesting."

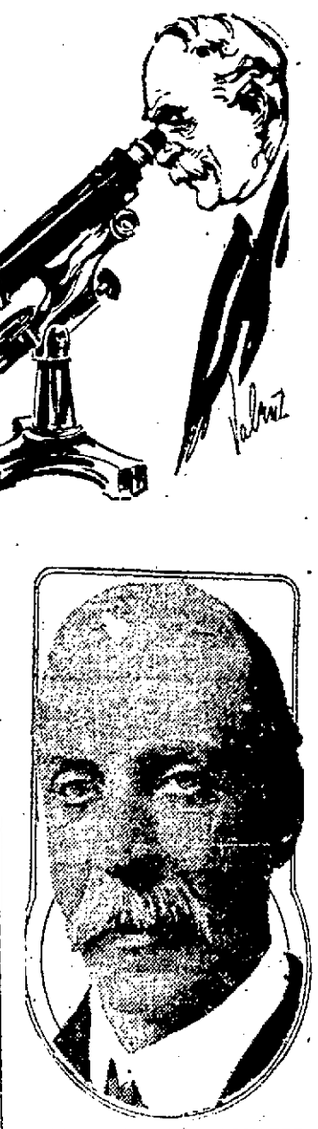
Prof. Schafer thinks that life originated in slime, and that the first living thing looked, perhaps, like a tiny drop of fluid. This fluid was "protoplasm," the basic substance of which all living things are made. It drew nourishment from its surroundings and formed itself into what we call a "cell," the smallest and most single organized of living things. The cell in time divided, making two. The division continued and cells were multiplied until living things filled the world. All life and growth still consist in the growth and division of cells.

Various kinds of cells appeared, made of the same basic fluid. Cells developed and came to live in "colonies," forming organisms more and more complex until at last the human body was evolved and man had been created.

By Prof. Schafer's theory a human being is just a collection of living cells in co-operation. Individual cells are continually dying and new ones are taking their places.

According to Prof. Schafer's theory, the beginnings of life were something like this. The sketches show an amoeba, composed of a single "cell," which lives in slimy water and is all stomach.

The four sketches (greatly enlarged) show the life process. The amoeba grows by division. No. 1 shows the "nucleus," its most vital part, beginning to lengthen. In No. 2 the nucleus has separated into two, and the cell itself begins to divide. In No. 4 the separation is complete.



PROF. EDWARD A. SCHAFER.

"What we term our life," he said, "is not a single property capable of being blown out like a candle, but it is the aggregate of the lives of millions of living cells. It is but a short time since this cell constitution was discovered, but tremendous strides have been made in the realm of biology regarding the cell structure of plants and animals."

Death, to Prof. Schafer, means only that the supply of oxygen to the tissue has been cut off, and thus the chemical action known as life is brought to an end. Death, he says, is not general; some of the cells in a body live long after the doctor has declared the patient dead.

The cells of a human body are always fighting to live. These cells are constantly combatting the microbes of disease, and the results of an illness depend on which are the stronger in the battle—the cells of the body or the microbe cells. In the end the hostile cells triumph.

Prof. Schafer's beliefs have roused all Europe, and a storm of criticism from all sides is beating about him.

Religious leaders are particularly bitter against him, but he has declined to make replies to their arguments.

Wedding Silver

The greatest of care should be taken in selecting silver for wedding gifts. Durable quality, correct weight and a pattern that will be considered as beautiful forty years hence as it is now are the requirements.

CAMPAIGN FOR REGISTRATION

All Political Agencies in County Turning Attention to This Matter.

THE POLITICAL GOSSIP

All the political forces in Allen county will turn their efforts this week to the matter of registration. Democrats, republicans and progressives are planning to give this subject their entire attention, and at all of the meetings to be held between now and next Monday, October 7, the speakers will dwell especially upon the question of registration, in an attempt to get all of those to the polls who let the other two registration periods slip by without having qualified to cast their ballot in November.

Local leaders of all parties agree that they will have much harder work to get the voters out next Monday than they had at either of the previous registrations, for they believe that the majority of those who have not yet registered are entirely indifferent as to the political situation.

With a little more than 14,000 registered at this time there are about 8,000 yet to register, according to the figures of the county poll.

Politicians will exert every effort from now on, and will carry the work into every corner of every township in the country and to every home in every city precinct. The democrats have planned for two meetings this evening. Phil Colerick and Harry Hilgeman will address the voters of the Ninth ward and Anslem Fuelber and Bert Somers will discuss registration and campaign issues in the Seventeenth precinct.

The Ralston Meeting.

The line of march for the democratic parade Wednesday evening, which will precede the address by Hon. S. M. Ralston, to be delivered at Princess rink, will be as follows: Form on Maiden Lane and Main street; move east to Harrison, north to Columbia, east to Barr, south to Lewis, west to Calhoun, north to Berry, west to Fulton and north to the rink.

Mr. Ralston, with a local reception committee, will view the parade from a stand to be erected by the Elks' temple on Berry street. A public reception will be held for Mr. Ralston at the Anthony hotel at 7 o'clock. The committee has not completed all the details, but among other speakers will be Congressman Cyrus Cline.

William C. Schwier will act as chief usher at the rink and District Chairman Edward G. Hoffman will preside as chairman of the meeting.

THE SHOPMEN'S MEETING.

Senator Ollie James to Speak at Holman and Clinton Streets.

When Ollie James, United States senator-elect from Kentucky, and permanent chairman of the democratic national convention, comes to Fort Wayne next Friday, he will deliver an address to the railroad shopmen at the corner of Holman and Clinton streets. He will speak the preceding day at Lagrange and will also speak during his Indiana trip at Elkhart.

John A. M. Adair, democratic congressman from the Eighth district, will also be in Fort Wayne Friday, and will speak at the railroad men's meeting.

MICHIGAN MAN COMING.

P. T. Golgrove is to Address Republican Meeting Here.

Secretary B. W. Skelton, of the Allen county republican central committee, makes announcement that P. T. Golgrove, national committeeman from Michigan, is to be in Allen county this week for a number of addresses. The meetings for the week are as follows:

Monday — At the Woodman's lodge hall in Poe.

Tuesday—Cedar Creek township, in the Leo school house.

Wednesday—At New Haven.

Thursday—In Madison township, at Hoagland.

Friday—St. Joe school house.

Saturday—Assembly room of the court house in this city.

WILL GIVE PERFORMANCES.

The Fort Wayne German alliance has made arrangements for a number of German performances to be given at the Majestic theater during the winter. The first play to be given is entitled "Edelweiss and Almenrausch" and will be enacted by a company from Oberammergau, Germany, now touring this country. The sale of tickets for this performance will commence in the near future.

The delegates to the Fort Wayne German alliance from the various German societies of the city will meet in quarterly session tomorrow night at Turner's hall.

STILL WAIT TO HEAR FROM TAFT

President Has Not Replied to Ultimatum by Gov. Hadley.

URGED TO RESPOND

St. Louis, Sept. 30.—No word from President Taft has yet come in reply to Governor Hadley's ultimatum to the state republican committee yesterday, as to the terms on which he would support the president in the present campaign.

This was explained by Col. Otto F. Stifel, member of the advisory committee of the republican national committee, who said that he had wired President Taft last night the text of Governor Hadley's ultimatum and, failing to hear from the president, had sent the president a second telegram, saying that no immediate reply was necessary.

Col. Stifel, explaining this action, in a statement declared that he had informed the president that he considered "Hadley's speech last night at the opening of the state republican campaign as an indorsement of Taft, and a promise to support him."

Hadley Names Condition.

Governor Hadley's ultimatum was that he would support President Taft for re-election only on condition that the president would at once declare himself for presidential preference primaries and non-boss controlled delegations from southern states to national conventions in order to prevent a recurrence of the charges of fraud such as arose in the last republican national convention.

He said that, because of fraud in the Chicago convention, he had refused to vote for the nomination of President Taft, but that he did not think the record made in Chicago justified him in abandoning the republican party. He paid a tribute to President Taft, as a man and official and said that, if the president would assure him that he would take the leadership for reforms which the governor suggested, he would bring about a change in the party which would reunite it. The reforms must come from leaders in the party, the governor said, if the party is to succeed and endure.

GERMAN AIRMAN DIES.

Lieut. Hefer Expires as Result of Accident at Sonnenberg.

Sonnenburg, Germany, Sept. 30.—The death of another German army aviator, Lieut. Willy Hefer, occurred today. He was injured during the imperial maneuvers in Saxony, when his aeroplane collided with a tree while he was making a reconnoitering flight. It was at first believed he was not seriously hurt, but his body was so shaken in the accident that he never rallied and expired today.

TWO WRECKS IN A DAY.

Baltimore & Ohio Has Lot of Trouble Near Sherwood, Ohio.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Two wrecks within twelve hours ocurred near Sherwood, Ohio, on the Baltimore & Ohio yesterday. Passenger train No. 5, westbound, jumped the track near the station at 4:30 a. m., doing slight damage to the engine. At 5 o'clock last evening a westbound emigrant train left the rails at the same spot. None was injured.

MASKED MEN ROB THEATER.

Overpower Watchman in Chicago and Escape With $846.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Three masked safe blowers overpowered two watchmen in the Empire theater, on West Madison street, early today, blew open a safe in the orchestra pit and escaped with $846. As a result of discoveries made by detectives, the police arrested the two watchmen and will hold them pending an investigation.

DIE IN ATTEMPT TO LAND BIG FISH

Accident Near Toronto Results in Drowning of Five Persons.

CANOE OVERTURNED

Toronto, Sept. 30.—Five members of one family were drowned in the Pigeon river yesterday, the victims being William McCafferey, of Toronto, sales manager of the Canadian General Electric company, his mother, wife and two children.

The dead: William McCaffrey; Laura Sager McCaffrey, his wife; Mrs. Mary McCaffery, his mother; Miss Grace McCaffrey, 13 years old, his daughter; Howard Sager McCaffrey, aged 8, his son.

A 14-pound muscalonge which had been hooked by Mr. McCaffrey was responsible for the drownings. Mr. McCaffrey had come here Friday with his family to spend a short holiday with his parents and his wife, mother and two children started out in a canoe down the Pigeon river in quest of muscalonge. No member of the party was seen alive after the canoe put out.

When the party did not return toward evening, Charles McCaffrey, father of the drowned man, became alarmed and organized a searching party. Seven miles down the river the canoe, floating bottom up, was found. Dragging operations were commenced and all the bodies were recovered. Clutched in the hands of Mr. McCaffrey was a trolling line and on the hook was a 14-pound muscalonge. The big fish was still alive and thrashed the water violently as he was drawn in. The coroner said there was no doubt that in the efforts of Mr. McCaffrey to get it into the boat the canoe was overturned.

MERRY TIME AT ROME CITY.

Louis Brunner Entertains Crystal Club at His Cottage.

Louis Brunner yesterday entertained the Crystal club at his Rome City cottage. About twenty-five of the members were present and had a most delightful time. Mr. Brunner's spies-broten was enjoyed very much, fifty pounds proving too little for the hungry ones. Bob Reidmiller's Schnitzelbank was a "howling" success. Charley Jacobs was most attentive to the wants of the members. Christ Woebbeking as a baker of potatoes in hot ashes can't be beaten. A "straw vote" did not show up well for Taft. Wilson got 20, Roosevelt 3, and Debs 1.

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago Market.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 30.—Although Balkan war possibilities caused wheat to bulge a little at the outset today, the market soon declined. December started at 90⅛c to 90¼c, touched 90¼@90⅜c, and reacted to 89⅝@89⅞c.

A further decline resulted from a decrease in the visible supply total. The close was unsettled, with December the same as Saturday night, at 89⅞@90c.

Bears in corn received aid from the Missouri state crop report. December opened at 53c to 53⅛c and fell to 52¾c. For a brief time September showed an advance of 2¼@2⅜c.

The close was irregular at 52⅝c for December, na net loss of ¼@⅝c. September finished at the high point of the day, 73¾c.

Oats swayed with other grain. December started at 31⅞c to 32c, but declined to 31¾c.

Strength of hogs made provisions firm. First sales were unchanged to 5c dearer, with January $18.60 for pork, $10.50 for lard, and $9.75 for ribs.

STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Day on Wall Street.

New York, Sept. 30.—Heaviness in the leaders, including Steel, Reading, Amalgamated Copper and Union Pacific, was the feature of today's stock market at the opening. This was offset in a measure by substantial gains in several specialties, including Pacific Mail and Lackawanna Steel, the latter advancing 3 points.

The market closed heavy; call money rose to the year's highest price—7¼ per cent—in the last hour, and stocks were heavily sold at marked recessions.

NEW YORK MONEY MARKET.

"They do not intend," he asserted, "that the average man shall have anything to do with its management."

He declared that he was opposed to the representatives of the party.

"That is why I am unequivocally opposed," he continued, "to both Gov. Hooper and Senator Sanders. If there is one thing I object to more than an outspoken opponent it is an opponent who tries to look both before and behind. I saw in the papers that Mr. Hooper, in addition to taking part in the formation of Taft-Hooper clubs, had attended a meeting of a Wilson-Hooper club. He is carrying water on both shoulders, with the result that some of it is being spilled. If a man doesn't know his own mind he cannot be trusted in an executive office.

"As to Senator Sanders he was one of those implicated in stealing from the people the right to nominate their own man for president. I draw no distinction between stealing an office and stealing a purse."

WHAT MARSHALL SAYS.

Refers to Fact That He Defeated Taggart Two Years Ago.

Boston, Sept. 30.—Gov. Thomas R. Marshall, of Indiana, the democratic candidate for vice president, who arrived here today from Indianapolis, in commenting upon the charge of Col. Roosevelt at Chattanooga that he governor was a representative of the Taggart machine, pointed out that he locked horns with Mr. Taggart over the senatorship two years ago and defeated him.

"In the campaign for governor this year," added Gov. Marshall, "I felt it necessary to keep out of the contest, as all the candidates had supported me."

Gov. Marshall will speak in Lowell and Lawrence tonight, in Salem and Lynn tomorrow night and at Norwich, Conn., on Thursday.

HAS NOTHING TO ADD.

Wilson Insists on an "Unbossed" Candidate in New York.

Sea Girt, N. J., Sept. 30.—Gov. Wilson left Sea Girt early today for Atlantic city to welcome the good roads congress. The engagement was made before he was nominated for the presidency, and it was not expected that he would make a political address. Before leaving the governor said he had nothing to add to his statement of last night, urging the delegates to the democratic state convention at Syracuse to make an "unbossed" choice for governor. However, he will keep in close touch with the situation at Syracuse through Senator O'Gorman.

PACT COMES TO LIGHT.

Republican Electors in Missouri Had Framed Agreement.

St. Louis, Sept. 30.—Many, if not all the eighteen republican electors in Missouri, recently signed an agreement pledinging themselves to vote for Taft for president if the eighteen votes of Missouri in the electoral college would elect him, but otherwise to combine with electors from other states on a third candidate, according to today's developments.

The signing of the agreement came to light today by the announcement of John J. Lahiv, an elector of St. Louis, that he would repudiate the contract because Gov. Hadley in his speech Saturday night failed to indorse President Taft. Lahiv said he understood that if all the electors signed, Gov. Hadley would come out openly for Taft. Louis P. Aloe, another elector, admitted signing the agreement under the same conditions as did Lahiv.

At the republican state headquarters it was today said that it was not known how many electors had pledged themselves. The St. Louis electors understood that Gov. Hadley was to be the compromise candidate for president in the event Mr. Taft could not be elected, but there was nothing in the agreement to that effect.

sociation of Bridge and Structural Iron workers, where President Frank M. Ryan and Secretary Herbert S. Hockin, two of the defendants have headquarters, where crowded with people early today. Most of the visitors were defendants from out of the city anxious to have a final conference with Wm. N. Harding, their counsel. Senator John W. Kern was expected to confer with them later. More than thirty attorneys from other cities are here.

Judge A. B. Anderson's court room in the federal building has a seating capacity of 200. The defendant, attorneys, jurors, newspaper correspondents and court attaches will occupy more than three-quarters of the space leaving less than fifty seats for spectators.

Ortie E. McManigal, the government's chief witness, occupied a cell on the same floor. Outside of his confession covering explosions in many parts of the country the specific charge against McManigal in the indictment upon which the government will lay stress is in the carrying of explosives in a suitcase from Indianapolis by way of Chicago to Los Angeles, Cal. It was part of the material with which the Llewellyn iron works in Los Angeles was blown up on Christmas day, 1910. For his part in this explosion John J. McNamara is serving a 15-year sentence in San Quentin prison. The government asserts it was the explosion referred to in correspondance of the iron workers officials as a "Christmas present to the Pacific Coast."

RETURNS FROM WASHINGTON.

Dr. Crull Attended Convention of American Public Health Association.

Dr. A. E. Crull, secretary of the city board of health, with his family returned from Washington, D. C., where as a delegate from Fort Wayne, he attended the convention of the American Public Health association and the International Congress on Hygiene and Demography. An idea of the importance of the convention is obtained from the following statement of Dr. Crull: "On matters pertaining to public health and hygiene I obtained more practical knowledge during the last two weeks than I have in any six months of the years I have practiced medicine."

One of the theories introduced at the two meetings by the most noted medical men and hygienic scientists in the world, was that the common barn fly is one of the main factors in spreading the infantile paralysis germ. In consequence of this fact the city health board will uncompromisingly "swat the fly" next summer. The congress upheld the process of vaccination for the prevention of typhoid fever.

The Fort Wayne health exhibit was the best shown by any Indiana city. The effectiveness was somewhat impaired by the ruling that each part of the exhibit be placed in a section reserved for the subject with which it had to do and consequently it was divided into five parts.

CALENDAR OF THE FAMOUS DYNAMITE CASE.

April 22, 1911—John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, arrested in his office in the American Central Life building, at Indianapolis, for participation in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles (Cal.) Times building.

November 7, 1911—Records held by county officials taken by United States marshals to the federal building on an order from Judge Anderson. These records consisted of books, papers and various documents belonging to the Iron Workers' International union.

December 1, 1911—John J. McNamara and his brother, James B., pleaded guilty, while the work of empaneling a jury was in progress at Los Angeles. About a week later both were sentenced, John J. to fifteen years in San Quentin prison, and James B. for life.

December 14, 1911—Federal grand jury at Indianapolis began its investigation of the dynamite cases.

February 6, 1912—Thirty-two indictments returned, naming fifty-four defendants.

February 14, 1912—Arrests made, government agents from New York to San Francisco reaching out to gather in the accused.

March 12, 1911—Forty-six of the defendants arraigned before Judge Anderson and each pleaded not guilty. All of the charges were consolidated into one case.

October 1, 1912—The trials of the fifty-four men will be begun.

Indianapolis, Sept. 30.—Charged with complicity in the so-called "dynamiting conspiracy," fifty-one men, present or former officials of labor unions, are to appear for trial before Judge Albert B. Anderson and a jury in the federal court of this district tomorrow.

Indicted under a federal statute forbidding the transportation of explosives on passenger trains, the defendants are alleged to have been concerned in a nation-wide plot to destroy the property of contractors employing non-union ironworkers, culminating in the explosion in the Los Angeles Times building, which cost twenty-one lives.

Fifty-four were indicted by the grand jury in its report of February 6 last, but of this number John J. and James B. McNamara are in San Quentin prison, California, and J. J. McCray, a former member of the executive board of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers, has not been found by the federal authorities.

Most of the defendants are or have been connected with the ironworkers' association, which, since 1905, has been engaged in a struggle with the National Erectors' association, an organization of structural steel and iron contractors employing non-union workmen. Members of this employers' association suffered less from more than one hundred explosions from 1905 to 1911.

Following the arrest of John J. McNamara, secretary-treasurer of the ironworkers' association, at its headquarters in this city, and the arrest of James B. McNamara and Ortie E. McManigal in Detroit, in connection with the Los Angeles Times explosion, presentments were made to the federal grand jury of this district that officials of the ironworkers' association and other labor unions had been concerned in a conspiracy to intimidate employers of unorganized labor by a systematic destruction of their property.

Ortie McManigal's confession, in which he related that he had been employed by the McNamara brothers and Herbert S. Hockin, acting secretary-treasurer of the ironworkers' association, to dynamite bridges and buildings in course of construction by non-union contractors, was the basis of the government's inquiry. He is to be the principal witness for the government in the forthcoming trial. A mass of letters and other records, seized in a raid on the offices of the ironworkers' association, also will be offered as evidence of a general conspiracy secretly to convey dynamite and nitroglycerine from coast to coast in a campaign against employers of unorganized ironworkers.

Most prominent among the defendants are Frank M. Ryan, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Ironworkers; Herbert S. Hockin, acting secretary-treasurer and the alleged head of the "dynamiting crew;" John T. Butler, of Buffalo, first vice president, and Michael J. Young, of Boston, and Phillip A. Cooley, of New Orleans, members of the executive board.

Business agents and secretaries of local ironworkers' unions throughout the country, alleged to have been implicated in the illegal transportation of explosives from state to state, make up the greater part of the list of defendants, but officials of other unions also are indicted. They are Olaf A. Tveitmoe, secretary of the Building Trades council of California; William K. Benson, former president of the Detroit Federation of Labor; Clarence E. Dowd, organizer for the International Association of Machinists; Hiram Cline, of Muncie, Ind., organizer for the Association of Carpenters and Joiners, and Spurgeon P. Meadows, business agent for the carpenters' and joiners' unions of Indianapolis.

United States Senator John W. Kern is to be chief counsel for the defendants, and the government will be represented by District Attorney Charles W. Miller and his assistant, Clarence Nichols, who conducted the grand jury's investigation.

She's Youngest Grandmother in the World.

MRS. M. ONO.

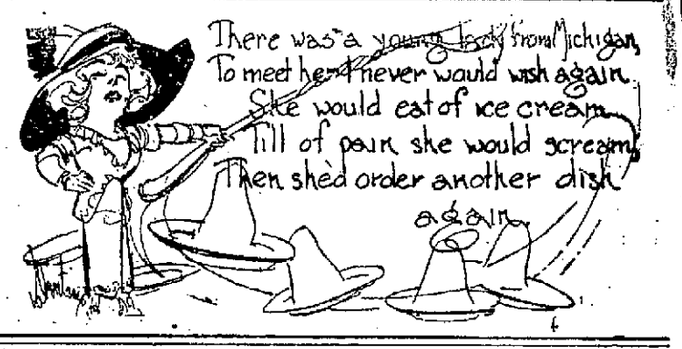
Mrs. M. Ono is the youngest grandmother in the world. She arrived in this country recently with her husband, who is manager for the French interests of the Yokohama (Japan) Specie bank.

Mrs. Ono is now 34 years old. Her grandson, who lives with his parents in Japan, is now four years of age. His mother is the daughter of Mrs. Ono.

"Yes," said Mrs. Ono, "I am really the grandmother of a four-year-old boy. I am proud of it. I hope to live to see the day when I can take a trip back to Japan and visit my great-great-grandchildren."

It is quite difficult to realize that Mrs. Ono is a Japanese. She dresses in the mode of the occident and possesses all of the mannerisms of the Europeans. This includes the smoking of a cigarette.

She speaks English, German and French with the same fluency as she does Japanese and has spent the last half of her life with her husband in France.



There was a young lady from Michigan,
To meet her I never would wish again.
She would eat ice cream
Till of pain she would scream,
Then she'd order another dish

STUDENTS EARN MONEY.

Cincinnati Innovation May be Copied Elsewhere.

Cincinnati, Sept. 30.—Cincinnati boasts of a school where it is possible for the pupils to earn their pin money while going through their studies. This school is known as the School for Retarded Pupils and is for those who have fallen three or four years behind their proper grades, chiefly because of sickness.

Mixed with long and dreary hours of study the pupils in this unique school are given an opportunity of making candlesticks, pincushions and calendars, which they sell. An itemized account is kept of each pupil's work and the amount of time put in on it, and they are paid accordingly.

This is the first school of its kind in the world, and the school officials are receiving numerous inquiries regarding it from all parts of the country.

Where it was impossible to induce pupils to attend this school it is now filled.

KEEPS BUSY PACKING APPLES.

Owner of Seymour Orchard Estimates Crop at 2,000 Barrels.

Seymour, Ind., Sept. 30.—Judge Edward Jackson, of Newcastle, who owns the big apple orchard near this city, is now busy gathering his crop. He will have about 2,000 barrels of Grimes's Golden, Roman Beauty and Ben Davis to market. His orchard is one of the largest in the state and is scientifically cared for by his brother, James G. Jackson. The entire crop of apples this year is first-class and will bring top prices. In this orchard there are now 1,200 bearing trees and 1,500 more have been planted.

LIGHTNING REMOVES CORSET.

Wearer Is Uninjured by Prankish Bolt During Electrical Storm.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 30.—Blinding flashes of lightning swept the sky here and all over Clark county during a recent electrical storm and played many queer pranks. While Mrs. Ray Foster was superintending the preparation of dinner at her bungalow at Villa, lightning shot into the kitchen, ripping her corset off, but not injuring her except for a nervous shock. Her daughter was stunned and her pet collie dog was killed.
